Charge Bribe Intended For Lesinski

By CHARLES C. CAIN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Federal prosecutors said Tuesday the participants in a bribery conspiracy allegedly involving state Supreme Court Justice John Swainson also agreed to pay a bribe to the chief judge of the state Court of Appeals.

U.S. Atty. Robert Ozer said in his opening remarks to a federal court jury that former bondsman Harvey Wish, who is on trial with Swainson, had also suggested that a bribe be paid to the chief judge of the appeals court, T. John Lesinski.

Ozer did not say that Lesinski was actually paid the bribe, but he did say that $1,000 or $1,500 intended for Lesinski did pass hands from Wish to convicted burglar John Whalen, the government informer in the case, supposedly for the purpose of bribing Lesinski.

Ozer said: "Harvey Wish told John Whalen, 'If an appeal bond is not set, I can get a judge ... the chief judge of the court of appeals ... T. John Lesinski. It might cost you $1,000 or $1,500 for a bribe but I will get that judge to set an appeal bond for you. Is that okay?' And John Whalen said that is okay."

Lesinski was lieutenant governor when Swainson was governor of Michigan. Even the hint of an accusation drew an angry retort from Lesinski.

Lesinski, at his Lansing office, told reporters Tuesday, "This is the first time I have heard of being offered any money.... This is the first time anybody ever told me I have been offered money to do anything and I deny it unequivocally."

The surprise comment about Lesinski came from the prosecution in the Swainson case just a few days after Lesinski spent an hour before the federal grand jury in Detroit.

Judge Orders Ford To Testify

By STEVE LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — President Ford has been ordered to give a video tape deposition as a defense witness for Lynette Fromme, who is accused of attempting to assassinate him.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride issued the order Tuesday. He said Ford's deposition could be taken "at the White House or any other place convenient for the President."

The jury at Miss Fromme's trial then could view the taped deposition. The trial is scheduled to begin Nov. 4.

But MacBride refused to order Ford to appear personally at the trial to testify about what he saw Sept. 5 when Miss Fromme allegedly pointed a loaded pistol at him as he walked to the state Capitol.

The gun did not go off and Ford was not hurt. MacBride ordered that Ford's testimony be taken within 10 days. Asst. U.S. Atty. Donald Heller said he expected to hear from the White House on the order by Friday.

Miss Fromme's court-appointed counsel, John Virga, said Ford might be able to refute statements by other witnesses that the gun clicked as if the trigger had been pulled.

"One of the prosecution's main points is that the gun clicked," Virga told newsmen.

"Our contention is that it never happened."

Officers say they found a magazine containing four rounds in the .45-caliber pistol they took away from Miss Fromme. But there was no round in the firing chamber and the weapon could not have fired, they add.

MacBride noted that Ford said in an FBI statement that he could not remember hearing a click sound when the pistol was pointed at him.

But MacBride added, "He could be examined further on the subject."

Virga asked that Ford appear in court, but he said a video tape deposition was acceptable.

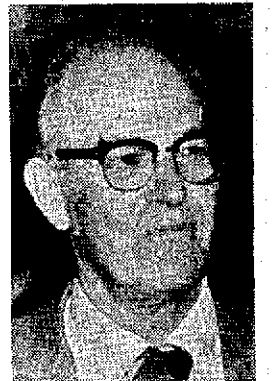

No president in office has appeared as a criminal trial witness. Thomas Jefferson sent a letter to a court in a civil case while he was in office, and Richard Nixon submitted written answers under oath to a list of court-approved questions during the White House plumbers' trial in July 1974.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said in Washington that Ford would have no comment on MacBride's order "because the matter is being handled by the Justice Department."

There was no immediate comment from Justice Department officials.

MacBride said Virga and prosecutors would question the President. He ruled out attendance by Miss Fromme, who has been allowed to act as her own attorney with Virga's assistance.

No More Extortion Arrests Anticipated

South Berrien Bureau
NEW BUFFALO — No additional arrests are planned in connection with the alleged extortion of over $1,000 from a 73-year-old New Buffalo woman during the past year.

New Buffalo patrolman Ed Lyons said Tuesday that while investigation of the alleged extortion of money from Mrs. Emma Welderich, Ferena Square, would continue, no further arrests are anticipated.

At the same time, Lyons and New Buffalo school Superintendent Walter Schwarz charged that the case had been distorted and magnified by newspaper and television reports.

Speaking at a press conference in New Buffalo city hall, Lyons specifically cited one Chicago television station — Channel 7 — that he said had "not told our side of the story."

Noting that eight boys arrested in the case were middle school students, Schwarz said he, school board members, teachers and a number of students wanted it known that "we're not just letting extortion run rampant in the schools."

The eight boys ages 12-16 were arrested last Wednesday after police said they observed two of the youths threaten Mrs. Welderich when she would not give them money.

The parents of two of the boys, Jack and Harriet Rheinoltz, of 518 1/2 Buffalo street, also have

Abductor Slain By Pursuing Officers

TECUMSEH, Mich. (AP) — Lenawee County sheriff's deputies shot and killed a Manchester man early today as they tried to rescue three hostages, Sheriff Richard Germond said.

Dead is Ronald Osburn, 22. Germond said the incident began when three men were abducted as they left the Glass Slipper Tavern in Manchester about 2 a.m. this morning.

Germond said Roger Krauss, 20, Phillip Ludwig, 26, both of Manchester, and John Culp, 25, of Clinton, were approached by a man wielding a shotgun.

Germond said the man herded the trio into a van, tied up two of them and forced the third to drive.

Germond said several attempts to stop the vehicle failed before a sheriff's deputy shot out one of the van's tires in Tecumseh, 10 miles to the south.

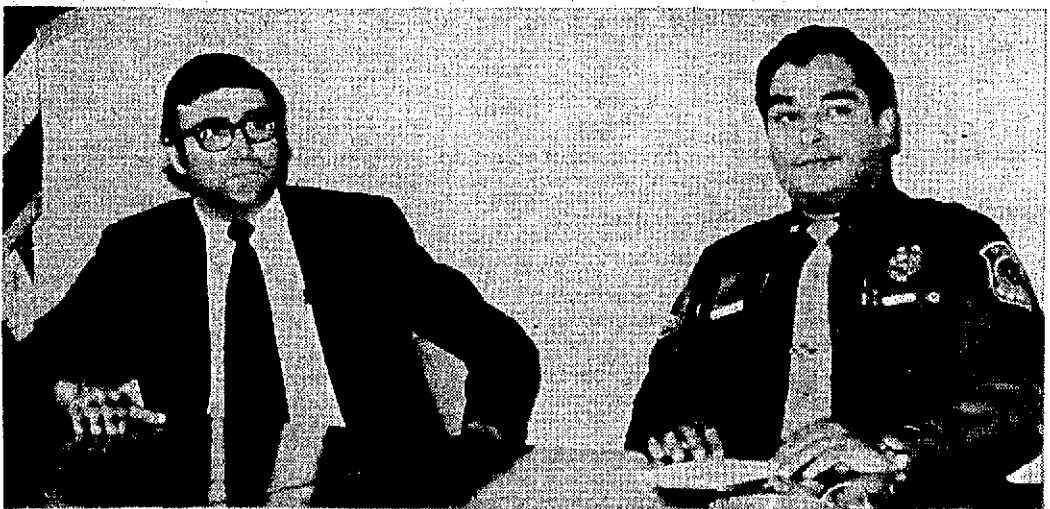

The hostages were threatened with death if any capture attempt was made, Germond said. However, he said officers tossed a flare into the van, rushed the vehicle and shot Osburn in the chest. He was dead on arrival at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Krauss and Ludwig were treated for minor injuries suffered earlier when they were beaten, deputies said.

No motive was reported but Germond said deputies are investigating the possibility Osburn may have been involved Tuesday in a burglary and shooting in Washtenaw County.

Sen. McCauley, Grosse Ile, Dies Of Heart Attack

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Sen. John E. McCauley, D-Grosse Ile, died early today of a heart attack at Lansing General Hospital. He was 51. McCauley died at 12:36 a.m., according to hospital officials. A hospital statement said the cause of McCauley's death was tentatively listed as a myocardial infarction, or heart attack.

99 The senator was hospitalized at General in July with a similar attack, but had been released.

McCauley had been a member of the state Senate for 10 years. He represented the 11th senatorial district, which includes the southern part of Wayne County and all of Monroe County.

Gov. William Milliken will have to call a special election to fill the Senate seat.

McCauley was a prime backer of the law that created the state lottery. His name appears on the lottery law, which was signed by Milliken on Aug. 1, 1972.

McCauley's death, about an hour after he was taken by ambulance from his apartment near the state Capitol building, leaves Democrats still heavily in control of the state Senate, 23-14. His district is considered staunchly Democratic.

McCauley was Wyandotte mayor for four years and earlier spent six years as a city councilman. He also at one time was chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

He was a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Kiwanis Club, Disabled American Veterans, Military Order of the Purple Heart and the Michigan Bar Association.

He married Jeanette E. Post in 1946 and has a son, Patrick Brian.

McCauley was severely burned and lost an arm when his tank was destroyed during a World War II battle in Europe.

Milliken called McCauley an "able legislator and an intelligent, witty and likable person" with whom the governor had been friends for more than 10 years.

The governor said he had a long visit with McCauley a few weeks ago. "I'm sorry now to realize it was our last," Milliken said.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Trimming The Fat From Food Stamps

Like most Washington giveaways designed to help somebody, the food stamp program is running away with itself.

It was a brain child of Lyndon B. Johnson who believed this subsidy system would bring down an entire flock of pigeons with one shot.

By making it easier for under-nourished people to obtain a more nutritionally balanced diet, the stamps could improve the nation's health standards.

They would stretch the cash welfare payments to relief recipients who were having a rough time of it in paying rent, buying clothes and acquiring other non-food essentials.

Greater consumption at the supermarket would reduce agricultural surpluses bearing down on the marketplace to farmers.

The cost of the subsidy would be easier to conceal from nosy taxpayers than cash grants which stick out like a sore thumb.

Though the program has its brownie points, it has accumulated a number of demerits since its inception 10 years ago, sufficient to cause even an ultra liberal such as George McGovern to call for bringing the system closer to earth.

The price tag has risen to $6 billion a year.

In most states, including Michigan, strikers are eligible for stamps. So too are college students whose parents are claiming them as income tax exemptions.

Under the regulations issued by the Agricultural Department which administers the program, a welfare client automatically receives stamps, but a person working for a wage no better than the cash payment to the relief client has a battle on his hands to supplement his low income.

Except for this year's apple crop, one would be hard put to find any farm output that is in surplus.

This week President Ford called upon Congress to drop nearly 17 per cent of the 18.8 million persons receiving food stamps by stiffening the eligibility requirements.

The White House proposal is tougher than several previously submitted by individual Congressmen.

The basic difference is in defining what is a low income level for a family of four persons.

Ford's calculation is $6,250 pre-tax. McGovern and the conservative Robert Dole have a joint bill before the Senate taking a $9,000 figure.

Other Congressmen have filed versions somewhere between the foregoing samples.

There are also varied opinions in determining who is a genuine applicant and who is the chiseler.

Unless the House shows a speedier disposition than it has up to this time, the likelihood for a consensus on putting some common sense into the program until next year is remote.

Yet even in the House, all of whose members face the voters next year, the sentiment exists to bring food stamps under better control.

Measured against a totally indigestible budget of $435 billion, slicing a billion from the $6 billion food stamp boondoggle may not appear to be making much headway.

Any effort along the line of a penny saved is a penny earned, however, is medicine long overdue in government.

President John Adams Wouldn't Be Surprised

Behind the tinsel and superficiality of some of the Bicentennial mementos, thoughtful Americans realize there is much to celebrate about the birth of the American experiment 200 years ago. That it was an experiment in self-government that an unusually talented group of men put together in the late 18th century they would be among the first to acknowledge. Some of the Founding Fathers might even be surprised to learn their experiment had lasted this long.

That comment is not meant to demean their efforts, but rather to recognize that many who contributed to the thoughts expressed in the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and by the institutions of government were not fully satisfied they had achieved their goal. Their doubts were symbolized in the answer attributed to Benjamin Franklin when asked what type of government the founders had constructed. "A Republic," Franklin is supposed to have replied, "if you can keep it."

Among the men who were not certain a government organized on paper could follow its established route was John Adams, a signer of the Declaration and, later, second President. Throughout much of his political life Adams found himself in opposition to Thomas Jefferson. The competition between the two men was not so much over goals as in methods to achieve those goals.

Jefferson was more the optimist, convinced that establishing the proper framework — the checks and balances — of government was sufficient to insure its success. Adams was not so certain of human nature, believing that man was constantly heir to temptation, especially in politics. Adams was far from convinced that the blueprint he and his compatriots drew up contained sufficient safeguards to prevent the bad in man from corrupting the governmental process.

John Adams would not be surprised at the scandals which have swept across the political scene. But he might find, were he to revisit us at this time in our history, at least a hint that people were becoming more aware of the concerns he expressed two centuries ago.

Power is corrupting and the weak will succumb. Even the strong can rationalize acts which they know to be wrong in the belief that the end justifies the means. Adams' fears were not unfounded. It may have taken 200 years to recognize human frailty for what it is, but if that point has been reached the nation can begin its next century with a firmer step.

Recently, more and more Americans — EVEN "liberals" like Muskie and Humphrey — have begun to realize that political idealism ignores the lessons of history. All wrongs cannot be righted with the signing of a new law or passage of another tax.

'Declaration Of Interdependence' To Get First Reading In Philly

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Staff Writer

"When in the course of human events the threat of extinction confronts mankind, it is necessary for the people of the United States to declare their interdependence with the peoples of all nations and to embrace those principles and build those institutions which will enable mankind to survive and civilization to flourish."

So reads the preamble to a "Declaration of Interdependence," a document written for today's world by noted historian Henry Steele Commager. The complete text will be read publicly for the first time in Philadelphia on Friday.

The new Declaration is one of five principal steps in a program developed by the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia to foster American actions to meet the challenges of global interdependence. Others include:

— A ceremonial signing of the Declaration by members of Congress and other Americans at Independence Hall in January, 1976.

— Sponsoring a convocation of the specialized agencies of the United Nations in Philadelphia next fall.

— Arranging a series of "Interdependence Assemblies" and encouraging the study of interdependence in the nation's schools.

The World Affairs Council sees its role as that of a catalyst, to bring together distinguished leaders and experts to discuss and analyze the facts and issues shaping world affairs and American foreign policy.

Its program will actually run for 13 years, paralleling the span between 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was promulgated, and 1789, when the new system of federal government began to function under the U.S. Constitution.

Like that original Declaration, "it is recognized that this will be a beginning, not a conclusion of effort," says Frederick Holding, chairman of the council's Bicentennial Era program.

Why a "Declaration of Interdependence"? Because just as the founding fathers of the United States framed their Declaration on the basis of certain self-evident truths, new self-evident truths of an even more complex nature confront the United States and the whole world today.

The lives, fortunes and cultures of all peoples are threatened by worldwide imbalances of food, natural resources, intercontinental pollution, world population, crisis in the international monetary system and military armaments out of control, as well as a host of other threats to human development and order that transcend national boundaries, points out William W. Bodine Jr., president of the council.

"It is time," he says, "for daring initiatives by people concerned and responsible for the fate of mankind." It is the council's hope to reawaken the spirit that led to a mutuality of understanding among the American colonies and to kindle that same spirit for an understanding of mutuality among nations.

As the nation approaches its Bicentennial, says Bodine, "nothing could be more timely and relevant than to extend the concept of independence to interdependence."

BLASTS BOTH PARTIES FOR U.S. 'SOCIALISM'

Editor, The crisis confronting New York City should be a warning of what is going to happen to the State of the Union if we don't get rid of "Public Enemy Number 1," the present Congress, Republicans and Democrats alike, as there is no difference between the both.

They have become the "enemy within the gates" which is more treacherous than the enemy at the gates.

A few questions I'd like to ask of the Republican Party: Where has the party been for the last 60-some years? Yes, the answer is that the Republicans helped the Democrats socialize America.

Where was the Republican party when the Marxist income tax was put over on the people (the 16th Amendment)? When the privately owned Federal Reserve banks were established? When the tax-free foundations were established?

When the "temporary" withholding system was established? When the United Nations, "that Godless Tower of Babel" was put on our shores? The answer is, the Republicans were right there with the Democrats, bringing these things about.

Where were the Republicans and the Democrats, for that matter, while the people of this country were being robbed and the wealth of the country being squandered all over the earth?

Yes, you know the answer as well as I do — taking orders from the Council of Foreign Relations, the Rockefeller and Bilderberger cabal. I could go on asking endless questions. So let us dedicate ourselves to the principles of our Founding Fathers, who "prayed" and not "preyed." Let's have a second party, an American party. There are still worthy and God-fearing men whom the lust of office cannot spoil.

With Halloween just 10 days away, the St. Joseph chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police today announced plans for their annual dance and fun night for the youngsters to keep things in hand in the city on the night of witches, goblins and traditional devilment. The event will again be split up into two programs this year, Chairman Ed Minkkel announced today. A dance for junior and senior high school students will be held in the St. Joseph high school gymnasium. The children will be entertained either at Wells field of the new Dickinson stadium.

Definite plans for developing and beautifying St. Joseph's river front have been prepared by certain wealthy residents of the city who are only awaiting the time when the twin city planning program shall be put into practice, according to Alderman Dan T. Haddock. "I'm not at liberty to disclose the man chiefly interested in the river front improvement, but I may state that the alterations contemplated under the city plan may come a great deal sooner than we expect," Alderman Haddock said.

Immediate and extensive repairs of the highway bridge across the St. Joseph river at the Central docks, connecting St. Joseph and Benton Harbor were authorized by the St. Joseph council and Benton Harbor commission Wednesday evening when the two municipal bodies met jointly at the St. Joseph city hall. Contract for the work was let to Frank J. Miller, Elkhart contractor, whose bid for resurfacing the bridge with cross-section pine blocks was lowest.

Interpol Has Other Targets

WASHINGTON — In 1950, when a group of Czechoslovaks hijacked an airliner to escape their nation's communist domination, the International Criminal Police Organization (Interpol) declared the refugees to be outlaws, drew up dossiers on each, and called throughout Europe for their arrest. In America, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was so outraged at Interpol's crust that he resigned as an officer of the group and thus severed FBI ties to this day.

Hoover's ire was understandable, though for him somewhat peculiar. Why should political dissidents be classified as common thugs? Why should ordinary if unfortunate citizens be mugged and backgrounded in police dossiers? Interestingly, the same questions are raised by American officials taking what amounts to the first hard look since Hoover at Interpol's worth and objectives.

Hard look, actually, may be overenthusiastic terminology. Three or four members of Congress are investigating Interpol to one degree or another, with one hearing having been held in the Senate and another scheduled there for sometime this month. This is not exactly the stuff of brewing scandals. What with CIA probes and FBI examinations, it is altogether likely the Interpol investigation will receive less than its due, a brush over and brush off, as it were.

Yet lack of real congressional interest at this date does not diminish the need for investigating Interpol. The 52-year-old private police agency has branches in 120 nations, including America, and has ties to these governments which can influence the lives of billions of the world's citizens.

Interpol USA, for example, whose $400,000 annual operating budget is paid for by tax dollars, has the right to collect information on any citizen through any public law enforcement body. What's more, it has the right to send this data upon request to any police agency in any member country, including totalitarian states.

Clearly, the potential for extraordinary abuse is ripe. It is one thing for Americans to invade each other's privacy; it is another when done by foreigners. And in effect, Interpol is the international master of the invading art. Based in Paris, where the word dossier was invented, Interpol uses its storehouse of information as a weapon that is of questionable accuracy and reliability. Criminals are the targets, but innocents can get hurt as well, police action by dossier being perhaps the riskiest of law enforcement methodologies.

Chauvinists are bothered by the growing fuss, Rep. Tom Steed of Oklahoma saying that, "Anybody who jumps on Interpol is either too ignorant to know what he's doing or is interested in protecting criminals." Others, like Beard, say they are in favor even now of withdrawing U.S. membership from the police network. As in so many matters of this kind, however, a middle ground will doubtless prevail, which is to say the controversy will be with us for some time yet.

A Campaign

Without Support

WASHINGTON — Sen. Eugene McCarthy's independent campaign for President is about to fail for lack of a second.

The Democrat who made President Lyndon Johnson tremble in 1968 and became the symbol of youthful resistance to the Vietnam war announced more than a year ago that he would seek the Presidency again, this time as a third party candidate.

Since then, McCarthy has acquired virtually no money, no support, no issues and no hopes for success.

McCarthy is maintaining the pretense of a national campaign in hopes that the Supreme Court will come to his rescue. He is part of a political coalition which is challenging the 1974 Federal Election Campaign Act as an unconstitutional restriction upon political expression. He wants the Court to throw out the new rules which limit how much a candidate can raise and how much he can spend.

It is doubtful, however, that even a favorable ruling by the Court can save McCarthy's campaign. It would free him to seek unlimited huge sums from a few friends, as he did in 1968. But a candidate backed by a handful of secret moneybags angels is going to look pretty crummy alongside those who have already demonstrated broad-based public support through small contributions.

Operating under the new limit of a $1,000 maximum contribution per individual, McCarthy has been able to raise only $78,000 in the past 12 months of campaigning. It is the smallest sum reported by any of the potential candidates of any party.

McCarthy has spent all but $7,323 of his funds for his travels, a newsletter, and fundraising receptions. That, at least, is the amount his "Committee for a Constitutional Presidency" has reported; he has thus far refused to submit to an independent audit to verify the figures, such as the other Presidential candidates are now undergoing.

McCarthy told me shortly after he announced his candidacy that he meant to begin immediately the tedious ordeal of petitioning to get on the ballot as an independent in the 50 states. It is a difficult process, varying widely from state to state and requiring both organization and money.

The Advisory Committee on Protection of Presidential Candidates has refused to recommend that McCarthy be given Secret Service protection.

McCarthy protested that the committee's reliance on a financial standard was unfair, particularly since a Gallup Poll last summer showed that his name was recognized more often than any other politician except George Wallace.

McCarthy's aides also protested that there had been many past threats on his life; all but one, however, turned out to have taken place in the 1964-71 period when Vietnam was still an issue.

McCarthy is the same quizzical, intelligent, and engaging fellow who took the Democratic Party by storm two Presidential elections ago. But his time has passed. His issue has passed. His party is irritated that he would leave it for a spoiler role as an independent. The public isn't interested.

BH-Benton Get Lion's Share Of CETA

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

Who's getting all the money from Berrien county's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program?

A partial answer to that question was given Tuesday by CETA Director Weldon Burden at the monthly meeting of the Manpower Planning Council, which serves as CETA's advisory board.

Burden said that Berrien county has spent $3,785,681 in CETA funds from the beginning of the program in June, 1974, through September of this year and listed all agencies and subgrantees that have shared in this financial pie.

He said that agencies that service Benton Harbor and Benton township have received 66.38 per cent of the funds — $2,512,878 — while those servicing other areas of the county have received 33.62 per cent, or $1,272,783.

Burden explained that his breakdown of agencies between those serving the Benton Harbor-Benton township area and those serving the rest of the county was based on where the agencies spent most of their funds.

"I'm sure there's some overlap...I'm sure every one serves one person or another in some other place," he said. "But this is where the services primarily go."

Among the agencies and sub-grantees he listed as serving the Benton Harbor-Benton township area are Benton Harbor area schools, Benton Harbor-Benton township housing commission, the City of Benton Harbor, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph sewage disposal, Benton township, Berrien County Action, Inc., Berrien county department of social services, Berrien County Legal Services Bureau, Berrien Opportunities Industrialization Center, Inc. (OIC), Cathedral School of the Arts and Community Parents.

Others include Homes for Berrien County Families, Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC), People for Peace, Planned Parenthood of Southwestern Michigan, Ross Field, Samaritan Center, Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Twin Cities Area Transportation Authority, Twin Cities Meals on Wheels and the Youth Service and Assistance Bureau.

Agencies servicing other parts of the county that have received CETA funds include Baroda township, Baroda village, Berrien county, Berrien County Association for Retarded Children, Berrien County Historical Society, Berrien County Youth Fair, Berrien General Hospital, Berrien County Council on Aging, Berrien County Intermediate School district, Berrien Springs public schools, Berrien Springs-Oronoko Police department, Big Brothers of Niles-Buchanan, Brandywine schools, Buchanan schools, Buchanan city, Buchanan Youth Assistance council, Coloma city, Coloma township, Coloma community schools, Department of Natural Resources, Easter Seal Society, Eau Claire village, Eau Claire schools, Gallien township schools and Gateway, Inc.

Others listed include the Greater Niles Recreation board, Greater Niles-Buchanan YMCA, Institute for Family and Community Services, Lake Michigan College, Lake Michigan criminal justice, Lakeshore youth baseball association, Lincoln township, Lincoln township public library, LINK, Michiana village, New Buffalo schools, New Buffalo city, Niles city, Niles community schools, Niles community library, Niles township, Niles-Brandywine Youth council, National Association for Physically Handicapped and the Niles area bicentennial committee.

Also on the list of CETA fund recipients are the Paw Paw lake regional joint sewage disposal board, Region Four area Agency on Aging, River Valley school district, Riverwood Mental Health Center, St. Joseph city, St. Joseph public schools, St. Joseph township, Shared Time occupational education, Southwest Michigan Indian Center, Small World preschool, Southwest Berrien County Landfill authority, Stevensville village, Watervliet city and the St. Joseph YWCA.

Burden said that CETA funds are to be used to provide job training and employment opportunities for veterans, females, the unemployed, and the economically disadvantaged.

JAMES KEMP

Twin City Unit To Hear National NAACP President

James Kemp, president of the national board of the NAACP, will be featured speaker Saturday at the 22nd annual Freedom Fund banquet sponsored by the Twin City NAACP chapter. The banquet will be held at Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge on M-139 in Sodus township, starting at 7 p.m. Tickets are $10.50 per person or $20 per couple.

Kemp is a life member of the NAACP and has been a board member of the Chicago chapter for 30 consecutive years. He also served as commissioner of the Illinois Fair Employment Practices commission from 1961 through July, 1974, under appointments by Governors Otto Kerner, Richard Ogilvie and Dan Walker.

Kemp served as a delegate to the Illinois constitutional convention in 1969-70 and was appointed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley as a member of the Regional Transportation Authority board in July, 1974.

Kemp has served as business representative of General Service Employees union Local 73 since 1940 and is president of SEIU Local 189, a position he has held since 1946. He has been a member of the Chicago Federation of Labor executive board since 1959, is a member of the executive board of the Service Federal Savings and Loan association and a trustee of Talladega College.

CRAFT 'SOME PLACE IN CASS'

Feds To Probe Sailboat Rental

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

The U.S. Department of Labor is scheduled to launch an investigation today into the acquisition of a sailboat by the Neighborhood Youth Corps with the help of Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds last year.

Berrien county Coordinator Roger Petrie said Tuesday he expected the investigator to probe all aspects of the transaction surrounding the sailboat, which was leased for the full purchase price from Gardner's Favorite Sports in Benton Harbor last year and which he now believes to be "some place in Cass county."

Petrie said he had been ordered by Marion Smith, associate regional manpower administrator for the U.S. Department of Labor, to return the sailboat to county property, but that he had not been able to do so.

He said the Tri-County Council on Child Development, which operated the NYC program under contract from Berrien county until Aug. 11 of this year, told him it felt it held title to the boat and eventually planned to sell it.

"They say they own it," Petrie explained, "but a conditional lease or sales project like that is strictly taboo with the Labor department (which disburses CETA funds)."

"We approved money for it as a lease, but when you lease something you give it back when you're through using it."

The controversial transaction was partially documented in material presented to the CETA advisory board Tuesday by Mrs. Ann White, chairman of the CETA board's NYC subcommittee.

Included in the documents was a copy of the lease agreement with Gardner's, which listed the total price of the 14-foot catamaran boat, trailer, freight and service charge as $1,774.62.

The lease called for 11 weekly payments of $140, one weekly payment of $182.75 and a service charge of $51.87 — a total of $1,774.62.

It was signed by Orion Flowers, director of the Tri-County Council for Child Development, Inc., and Cecil Mitchell, director of the NYC program.

The president of Gardner's is Donald C. Clark, husband of Berrien county commissioner Nancy Clark, chairman of the social services and planning committee, which has responsibility for overseeing CETA operations.

According to assistant CETA Director Zelma (Jay) Morris, the money used to acquire the sailboat came half from Berrien county's CETA funds and half from Van Buren and Cass counties.

Petrie said the Van Buren and Cass funds supplied by the TCCCD were "Balance of State" monies disbursed by the Labor department to counties that do not have prime CETA sponsors, as Berrien does.

He said the sailboat was used for the NYC recreation program in 1974 but that this year it had remained chained to a tree in Mitchell's yard until it was removed, reportedly to Cass county, a short time ago.

Yearbook Is Ready At BHHS

The 1975 Benton Harbor high school centennial yearbook, the Greybrie, will be distributed Thursday and Friday to students who ordered copies last year, according to Judy Mendel, yearbook editor.

Hours are 7:45 to 8 a.m. and 1:05 to 1:40 p.m. each day at the library circulation desk. Students should bring yearbook receipts and be prepared to pay an outstanding balance at time of delivery. Greybries not claimed by Friday will be sold at a later date.

The request of Ralph Post to rezone an acre at Niles road and Lydia drive from R-4 (two-family) to B-2 (commercial).

Post announced earlier he wanted the rezoning to build a fabric shop on the site.

The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. in Fairplain West school.

TAKE OVER MANAGEMENT: Don Clark (left), owner of Gardner's Favorite Sports & Marine store, Benton Harbor, recently announced he has turned over management of half his store to his son, George, 22, (right) and Tom Smith, 27, (center). Smith and George Clark will be in charge of skiing, camping and marine departments. Clark, 57, said he is slowly phasing himself out of store's management. He has been affiliated with Gardner's sporting goods for 26 years. Smith, son of St. Joseph Mayor Franklin H. Smith, has been employed at store for past five years. Store is located at 741 Riverview drive. (Staff photo)

F.S. Upton At Home Of Daughter

Frederick S. Upton has left Memorial hospital and is recuperating at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Circuit Judge and Mrs. Chester J.

Byrns, 298 Ridgway, St. Joseph. Judge Byrns said Mr. Upton is "recovering nicely" from injuries received in an auto crash Sept. 24 but that visitors are still limited to members of the immediate family.

Mr. Upton is the retired senior vice president of Whirlpool Corporation.

SJ Planners Mull Trailer Rental Request

St. Joseph township planning commission last night referred to a study committee a request for a rental trailer operation at Niles road and Lincoln avenue.

The request was filed by Joseph Mitchell who operates a service station at that location and was previously granted a license to sell camping trailers there.

Chairman Ernest Knaf sent Mitchell's request to David Bozarth and Robert DeVries, members of the planning commission, for a report.

Mitchell previously was granted a license to sell camping trailers from his station.

Knaf announced the planning commission had set Tuesday, Nov. 18 as the date for a public hearing on the request of Ralph Post to rezone an acre at Niles road and Lydia drive from R-4 (two-family) to B-2 (commercial).

Post announced earlier he wanted the rezoning to build a fabric shop on the site.

The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. in Fairplain West school.

Tax Collection Fee Waived By Benton

BY RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Property owners in Benton township will get a break on their local tax bills this year.

Because of tough economic times for many, the township board of trustees last night voted to waive the 1 per cent tax collection fee.

The board said this will cost the township about $40,000. The board voted to restore the $40,000 to the general fund with federal revenue sharing returns.

The board ruled that the 1 per cent collection fee waiver is for 1975 property taxes, payable on Dec. 1. To avoid paying the fee, however, the property owner must pay the tax bill by the deadline, Feb. 15, 1976.

The 1 per cent fee has been levied because the township collects taxes for county and school units of government, besides the local township tax.

In other matters, trustees referred disposition of a former Model Cities neighborhood center to the township building board of appeals.

Trustees in a split-vote on Oct. 7 decided to allow the township's senior citizen program operate in the building at 978 Waukonda avenue. The matter was referred to the planning commission for consideration of a special use permit. The planners on Oct. 8 reaffirmed their decision of last August that the building should revert to residential property.

Township Clerk Cathryn Strik said last night that if the building board of appeals recommended use of the Waukonda center for senior citizens, the board of trustees could cast a binding vote. The board of trustees asked the appeals body to meet on the matter before the next scheduled appeals board meeting in November.

In a split vote, the trustees agreed to extend free trash collection service to single-family homes.

Opposed were Treasurer Joseph Postelli, who cited expenses, and Trustee Ken Malkin, who hoped to explore extending the service to parks and apartments that don't require special equipment to remove trash from large-collection tanks.

The free service was started a year ago. Excluded are apartments, parks and commercial establishments. Supervisor Martin J. Lane, after the meeting, commented that the cost comes from the general fund. Lane said he didn't know off-hand how much the service cost during the past year.

Morris Thompson, a member of the YMCA Benton township branch board of directors, told trustees the branch is exploring ways to expand the branch building at 1697 East Britain avenue. Thompson asked the board about legal procedures.

The township owns the branch property and building and leases the facility to the branch YMCA for $1 per year. Trustee Walter Slowik was named to meet with the branch board at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, at the branch building.

In other areas, the board:

—Approved a Model Cities contract that enables some $215,000 in the former program's funds to be used toward construction of the community recreation building, now being built next to Benton Harbor high school.

—Approved a pension ordinance for coverage of all employees, except police and firemen, who have their own pension plans, and elected officials.

—Agreed to secure specifications and then seek bids for a new roof and wiring at the Napier avenue fire station, and for roof repair work at the Margaret street fire station.

—Voted to advertise for bids for two new police patrol cars, as replacements for older units.

—Took under advisement a request by People for Peace for financial aid to operate a child care center.

BH Hopefuls Will Stump Together

Wilce Cooke, candidate for mayor in Benton Harbor's Nov. 4 election said he will start campaigning in the Third Ward Friday with Mrs. Annie Robinson, candidate for commissioner-at-large.

Cooke said he and Mrs. Robinson intend to cover before the election all of the Third Ward, biggest in the city, with precincts at city hall, Stene Brunson school and Seely McCord school.

Mrs. Robinson is a member of the Common Sense ticket composed of three other city commission candidates. Common Sense has not announced an endorsement for mayor.

Cooke is opposing incumbent Charles Joseph who heads the Clean Slate ticket.

Marty Names For Halloween

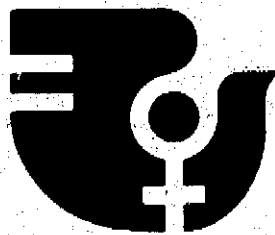

The name Halloween means the night before All Hallow's or All Saints' Day, Nov. 1.

But this pre-Christian festival is also known by other names.

In the British Isles, where chestnut-roasting is a Halloween custom, it's often called Nutcrack Night. In Ireland its ancient title is Oidhe Shamhna, or Death's Vigil. And on the Isle of Man, Halloween is Hogunnas.

Another name for the festival is Mischief Night, because of the practical jokes played by youngsters in some parts of the world.

Goblins And Ghosties Have Halloween Appetites

Bewitch Youngsters With Special Supper

What's a goblin to do? One can't be expected to head out into the night to haunt with all the other goblins and ghosties on an empty stomach! Make your Halloween supper tailored to fit the occasion.

These two new recipes are quick and easy and just the right fare to send your favorite gremlins on their long journey.

Gremlin Goulash is a filling and fun main dish. The savory ground beef and vegetable skillet dish is ready to serve before you can say, "Trick or treat!" The "trick" is a flavorful sauce created with an envelope of brown gravy mix. Pumpkin Dumplings are the "treat" that tops it off. "Faces" made with raisins, bits of green pepper and pimiento turn the dumplings into jack-o'-lanterns.

Halloween Salad is a lettuce slaw with the added touch of raisins. The tangy dressing gets extra verve from prepared yellow mustard. This crunchy salad is the perfect go together for Gremlin Goulash.

GREMLIN GOULASH

1 pound ground beef
1 envelope (3/4-oz.) brown gravy mix
1 1/2 cups water
1 package (10-oz.) frozen peas and carrots

Pumpkin Dumplings (recipe below)
Raisins, pimiento, green pepper

Cook beef in large skillet, stirring to crumble; pour off excess fat. Stir in contents of gravy mix envelope, water and peas and carrots. Simmer five minutes, stirring to break up frozen vegetables. Prepare dumplings as directed below; drop by spoonfuls around edge of skillet. Arrange jack-o'-lantern faces on each dumpling using raisins for eyes and strips of pimiento for mouth. Top each with a green pepper stem. Simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Cover; simmer 10 minutes longer. Five to six servings.

Pumpkin Dumplings: Stir together two cups biscuit mix, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup canned pumpkin and one tablespoon brown sugar.

HALLOWEEN SALAD

1/4 cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
2 tablespoons oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
4 cups torn-up lettuce
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup raisins

Combine mayonnaise, mustard, oil, vinegar and sugar. Combine lettuce, pepper and raisins in salad bowl. Add mayonnaise mixture and toss lightly. Four to six servings.

Whether it's family supper or party fare for the neighborhood ghosts and goblins, you'll want a special dish — like Jack O'Lantern Bean Bake — to brighten the table this Halloween.

Everyone will smile back at this happy combination of skinless frankfurters, beans and pineapple topped with a grinning jack-o'-lantern face. The addition of green pepper provides color and crunch, while a touch of molasses and vinegar imparts added piquancy.

Though it looks and tastes very special, the Bean Bake is quick to prepare. Using canned pork and beans and skinless franks means it's easy on the budget, too.

Complete the menu with fresh apple cider served in festive paper cups and crisp relishes like carrot and celery sticks. Dessert is a simple solution, too. Serve fresh pears and grapes with cookies or a few "goodies" from the trick-or-treaters bags (if they'll share).

Because sampling is a part of trick-or-treating, the youngsters will appreciate this light supper. The older "kids" will welcome their old favorite — beans and franks. — In this Halloween costume.

JACK O' LANTERN BEAN BAKE

1 pound skinless frankfurters
1 can (13 1/4-oz.) pineapple chunks, drained
1 can (28-oz.) pork and beans
1/2 cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons molasses
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 teaspoons instant minced onion

Cut five frankfurters in half lengthwise. Butter 1 1/2 quart round casserole (preferably with straight sides). Stand cut franks side by side around one-third of casserole. Trim bottom ends to fit and press firmly against side of dish. Cut one frankfurter two-thirds of the way through at 1/4 inch intervals and reserve for trim.

Cut up trimmed ends of franks and slice remaining franks. Reserve three pineapple chunks for garnish. Combine pork and beans with remaining pineapple, green pepper, molasses, vinegar and instant minced onion.

Alternate layers of bean mixture and franks in casserole, beginning and ending with beans. Arrange reserved pineapple chunks on top for eyes and nose; curve the partially sliced frank and place on top for mouth.

Bake in preheated 375 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes until hot and bubbly. Cover franks on edge with foil after 15 minutes to prevent overbrowning. Serve hot. Makes six servings.

DEVILISH HAMBURGER WHEELS

1 1/2 lb. ground beef
One and one-third cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

1 teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
8 slices American cheese
8 hamburger buns
1/4 cup catsup

1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Heat oven to 400 degrees. Combine ground beef, oats, milk, Worcestershire sauce, celery salt, salt and pepper; mix well. Shape to form 16 hamburger patties.

Diagonally cut corners off cheese slices to fit buns; set corners aside. Separate hamburger buns and place one slice cheese on eight of the halves; top each cheese slice with a hamburger patty. Combine catsup, brown sugar and mustard; mix well. Place about a teaspoon of catsup mixture in center of the hamburger patties. Arrange cheese corners, spoke fashion, over catsup mixture. Spread remaining hamburger buns with catsup mixture. Place remaining hamburger patties over catsup. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven 20 to 22 minutes. Serve open face or sandwich style.

HALLOWEEN BEAN STEW

4 cups shredded cabbage
3 cups carrots, diagonally cut in 1-inch pieces
2 cups cubed potatoes
1 cup chopped onion
2 cups water

1 17-oz. can whole kernel corn
1 10-oz. pkg. lima beans
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt

Meatballs:
1 1/2 lb. ground beef
1/4 cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
One-third cup catsup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic, minced

For stew, combine cabbage, carrots, potatoes, onion and water in 4-quart Dutch oven. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until carrots are tender. Add corn, lima beans, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Return to boil, reduce heat; add browned meatballs and simmer 15 minutes or until beans are cooked.

For meatballs, place ground beef, oats, catsup, salt and pepper in large bowl; mix well. Shape to form 24 meatballs. Place garlic and small amount of fat in skillet; brown meatballs over medium heat. Makes 8 servings.

CARAMEL 'N CRUNCH PEARS

Oats Crunch:
2 1/4 cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar

One-third cup butter or margarine
Caramel Coating:
42 vanilla caramels
6 tablespoons water
8 pears, chilled

Heat oven to 350 degrees. For oat crunch, place oats in shallow pan and toast in preheated oven 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Combine with walnuts, brown sugar and butter or margarine. Return to oven 8 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool and crumble if necessary.

For caramel coating, place caramels and water in top of double boiler over hot water. Heat, stirring constantly, until caramels are melted and mixture is smooth.

Wash and dry pears; remove stems and insert skewers. Coat pears with caramel; place on well greased cookie sheet and chill. When caramel is fairly firm roll pears in oat crunch and pat evenly over pears. Chill until firm.

Any leftover oats crunch may be stored in a tightly covered container in the refrigerator. Use as a topping for ice cream or puddings.

Variation: Substitute apples for pears.

WITCH HAT BISCUITS

1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 tablespoon minced onion
One-third cup shortening, soft
Two-thirds cup milk
1 egg, beaten
Poppy seed

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Stir in oats and onion. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, all at once, stirring lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board or canvas; sprinkle dough lightly with flour. Knead gently about 15 times. Roll dough out to 16 by 8-inch rectangle. Cut into 4-inch squares. Cut each square in half diagonally. Starting with long side of triangle, roll up leaving part of tip flat to form point of hat. Brush lightly with egg and sprinkle with poppy seed. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 16 biscuits.

Treat Your Favorite Gremlins

Something just a little different are the tasty Halloween faces that are certain to delight any youngster who might be calling at your home the night of Halloween. The Halloween faces are so easy to make that the whole family can get involved seeing who can come up with the most creative faces.

This is also the time when Halloween safety rules should be discussed with the children before they go "trick-or-treating". Remind the children to stay within their own immediate neighborhood; bring the "trick-or-treat" goodies home to be inspected before tasting them; wear light-colored Halloween costumes decorated with reflective tape for greater visibility and use a flashlight after dark.

While these are just some of the rules, following them will make this Halloween much more enjoyable.

creamy. Stir in nuts. Makes 2 1/2 dozen filled cookies.

When little ghosts and goblins come knocking at the door this Halloween, treat them with homemade caramels. These chewy candies made with peanut butter will bring a smile to the face of even the most impish trick or treaters.

Chopped pecans lend crunchy texture and accent the rich nutty flavor of peanut butter featured in this recipe. Kids and grown-ups alike will find these creamy peanut butter caramels a delightful change-of-pace flavor.

Crisp red and yellow apples and freshly popped popcorn are good choices to complete your trick or treat offerings.

CARAMELS

1/2 cup smooth peanut butter
1/2 cup broken pecans
2 cups sugar
3/4 cup light corn syrup
1/2 stick (1/4 cup) butter
2 cups whipping cream

Butter a nine by nine by two-inch pan and sprinkle pecans over bottom. Combine peanut butter, sugar, corn syrup, butter and one cup of cream in a heavy three-quart saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, over medium heat. Gradually stir in remaining one cup cream. Stir frequently as mixture begins to thicken. Continue to cook and stir constantly as candy darkens. Cook to 425 degrees Fahrenheit on a candy thermometer or when spoonful of syrup dropped into a small cup of very cold water, forms a firm ball which does not flatten on removal from water. Pour into prepared pan. When candy is cold, cut into one-inch squares and wrap each caramel in clear plastic wrap.

GHOST COOKIES

3/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
2 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour

1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
Fluffy white frosting Raisins
Red cinnamon candies
Flaked coconut

In large bowl of mixer beat butter until creamy. Add sugar and mix until light and fluffy. Add egg, vanilla and grated lemon peel; mix well. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Stir in oats. Chill dough 1 hour. On floured board or canvas roll dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut out "ghost" shaped cookies that are approximately 6 by 3-inches each. Bake cookies on ungreased cookie sheets in preheated 375 degree oven 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets and cool completely on wire racks. Frost each

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

He Doesn't Need Diapers

Dear Ann: I've read your column for many years and I enjoy it. However, as a nurse, I must say I was surprised to see your response to chronic bed-wetters.

I agree that a chronic bed-wetter should take every precaution against damage (and embarrassment) but that 22-year-old who thinks he's found a solution to his problem by wearing a diaper and rubber pants is mistaken. Wearing a diaper and/or rubber pants solves the problem of embarrassment and damage, but it does nothing to solve the problem of bedwetting.

He needs to SEE A DOCTOR! There's a reason (be it physical or psychological) for bedwet-ting and he should find out what it is and do something about it. Please Ann, tell him, so the degradation, inconsideration, humiliation (and diapers) won't be necessary. I'm counting on you! — Mrs. K.

Dear Mrs. K.: Of course you're right. Bedwetting by anyone over three years of age is a symptom of another problem — either organic or emotional. (My experts tell me it's at least 90 per cent emotional.) Therapy is needed for adults who have the problem. Counseling is definitely in order for both the mother and the child who swims ashore every night.

Thank you for hauling me back and insisting on a better

Boos Togetherness

Dear Ann Landers: What is your opinion of married couples working in the same office? We have two such couples and they are both trouble.

My immediate superior married a young woman who is supposed to be my assistant. She comes in late half the time, departs early, takes two-hour lunches, and her work stinks. Since her husband is my boss, I find it difficult to say anything. At the same time, I realize I'm being unfair to the others in this department.

The second couple met here last year. They are a pair of nitwits with no sense of propriety or judgment. When they aren't kissing behind the water cooler they are holding hands by the file cabinet. Several employees have commented on their tasteless behavior but the kooks don't seem to have gotten the message.

Will you comment please? — Too Much Is Plenty

Dear Future: I would not make a flat-out statement that married people should never be employed in the same office, because in some instances it works out well.

Generally speaking, however, it's not a good idea — and for the reasons you mention, plus another. Too much togetherness can put the dead hand on any relationship.

Male Pinups

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teenage girl who has seen many beauty pageants, Miss America, Miss Universe, etc. — always for women. Now I would like to see some of those contests for men.

The world is changing and it's time people realized that females enjoy looking at handsome males just as much as the other way around. I guess in the olden days it wasn't considered decent or respectable for a woman to admire a beautiful male body, but all that is different now. How about letting the world know the game has changed? We'd love you for it, Mother. — Future No Shock

ANN LANDERS

Dear Future: "The world" doesn't need to hear it from me. First there was Burt in that nude centerfold. And recently, at a bridal shower in Carmel, Calif., the girl's sorority sisters surprised her at the festivities by having a nude fella jump out of a cake!

P.S. I'm not your mother.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

That Leisure Suit

When the story of our civilization is told, there will probably remain three questions of etiquette that time has never been able to answer.

1. Does she or doesn't she use a hair coloring?

2. Do you offer a lady a Tiparillo?

3. Do you ask a man in a leisure suit to take out the garbage?

The leisure suit (for those who have been "leisureing" improperly dressed) is a no-wrinkle, two-piece slack and casual jacket, worn with a coordinated open-at-the-throat shirt with the cuffs turned up.

In the ads, the suits are always modeled by a big, broad-shouldered man with no stomach, an animal's tooth around his neck, and dark glasses that shade his entire face. He's the type who when he says he uses a baby powder after he showers, no one laughs.

For some reason, the leisure suit has captured the attention of men everywhere — even my husband, the conservative dresser. (He wears a necktie to open his mail, and considered zippers in trousers a fad until the U.S. Army issued them in World War II.) He owns three leisure suits.

"What are you going to do with three leisure suits?" I asked. "You're overdressed for tennis and underdressed for dinner."

"Good heavens, woman," he said, "don't you know what leisure means? It's your time away from employment during which a person may indulge in rest and recreation. You burn around . . . or grub around as the kids say."

During the coming weeks I was to discover that the leisure suit had its limitations. You couldn't swim in it, play golf, picnic, row a boat, camp, swing in a hammock, play ball, tinker with the car, cut grass, fish, clean out a tackle box, paint, cook in it, shoot pool or ride a horse.

"If you can't play in it, you'll just have to wear it to work," I said.

"What! And get it soiled?" Now that I've thought on it, I think the leisure suit has been one of the shrewdest con operations ever to be perpetrated on women. The leisure suit is the twilight zone of the fashion world. A man climbs into his leisure suit and he is "untouchable" by work or play.

As my husband said with that crooked little smile, "You women should get a leisure outfit that temporarily gets you some free time and rest."

"We have," I said. "It's called a hospital gown."

FOR THURSDAY
OCT. 23, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is not a good day to try to accomplish things alone. Other people's thinking will help you to avoid mistakes.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to be extra-practical today. You could kid yourself that you have more resources than you have, thus causing much wastefulness.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're in a happy-go-lucky mood. If home problems should interfere with your social desires, take it in stride.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're more content at home today. Things annoy you at work. You'll even get uptight if you have to leave the house to run an errand.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you try to have things all your own way with friends today, it's going to cost you far more than you bargained for.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You might get away with playing the big shot with strangers today but don't try it at home. They'll burst your bubble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Keep everything out in the open today. Hidden motives will necessitate a lot of fast talking to cover up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Keep your thoughts and ideas to yourself today. Other people's opinions will be wrong for you and could prove expensive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Continue to try to think in terms of helping others. You tend to be too self-centered. This could put you in a bad light.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep your nose to the grindstone. Don't try any new-fangled ideas. Things get done better by tried-and-true methods today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You're lucky as long as you're dealing with a few friends today. Large groups or gatherings could cost you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Be prepared to be flexible and able to change your thinking today, or you'll find yourself locking horns with those at home.

Your Birthday

Opening lead — 2 ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby
The utility one club opening is usually made with a balanced hand that is too weak for one no trump. Thus, with 19 high-card points, North opened one club. His jump rebid to two no trump showed this exact hand. With 11 high-card points of his own, South merely raised to three no trump. North had been heading for the spade game all the time and proceeded to bid four spades to announce specifically that he had 19 or maybe 20 points with four spades and three cards in each other suit. South revalued his hand and decided to invite a slam by going to five spades. North's values were mostly in aces, kings and good trumps and he went on to the slam.

Mathematically, the slam is not a really good one. The ace of clubs must be lost. With all four trumps in one hand there is a sure trump loser and in any event the diamond queen must be located.

South started out by playing three rounds of trumps. East's first discard was the three of diamonds, his next one the five of clubs. This diamond discard gave South all the help he needed. He didn't play diamonds right away, but when he got around to the suit he finessed against East and made his slam.

ASK THE JACOBYs

A Wisconsin letter asks what you should do holding:
♠ — ♠ 2 — ♠ 9 7 6 5 4 3 — 10 8 5 4 3 2 after the bidding has gone four hearts — four spades — double.

Our first suggestion is to give the hand to a kibitzer. If you can't do that and have a partner who will understand that a four no trump call asks him to bid a minor suit (even a three carder) bid four no trump.

Otherwise, just say to yourself, "This is not my day," and pass.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Dr. Lester Coleman

When I take a water pill I can lose seven pounds in a day. Is there any danger to using these pills for a long time in order to take off weight?

Mrs. S.L. Pa.

Dear Mrs. L.: It is astonishing to me that this question continues to arise despite the warnings by your doctors.

I have repeatedly told my readers that your kind of thinking is fallacious.

It must be apparent to you that the temporary loss of water after using a diuretic, or water pill, is NOT the answer to overweight.

Certainly, draining fluid from the body tissues will temporarily reduce weight. But isn't it obvious that the real answer must be sought in the reason why your body tissues tend to accumulate so much water?

It is necessary that hormone imbalance, kidney disease and chemical problems within the blood stream be an essential part of a general examination. Only then can your problem be attacked at its source.

Diuretic drugs are very valuable when prescribed by physicians for specific conditions and for a definitely limited period of time.

My husband has just returned from India. While there he was sick with malaria. Even though he was cured I wonder if he can infect our two young children.

Mrs. R.B.B., Mich.

Dear Mrs. B.: Malaria is transmitted through the bite of the anopheles mosquito. It is rare for malaria to be transmitted in any other way.

I must assume that your husband was adequately treated with the effective anti-malaria drugs. Neither you nor your children should live in fear that you will be infected.

Even though the malarial parasite has been destroyed, all people who have ever had malaria are urged to remember never to donate their blood for transfusion. Even in the absence of symptoms of malaria, the parasite that causes malaria may still be harbored in the blood stream.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH. Speech defects in children should be recognized early and treated long before they become a source of embarrassment to the child.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Honey 'N Spice Cup Cakes

Cup Cakes:
One-third cup butter or margarine
4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
¾ cup applesauce
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
½ cup milk

Honey Glaze:
2½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons milk

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Cream butter or margarine; add sugar; cream again. Beat in egg, then applesauce. Sift together flour, cinnamon, soda, salt and nutmeg. Combine with oats. Blend dry ingredients into creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Pour batter into greased medium-sized muffin cups, filling each about ¾ full. Bake in preheated oven 20 to 22 minutes. Cool. Spread tops with honey glaze.

Sprinkle with orange tinted coconut, if desired.

For honey glaze, combine all ingredients. Beat until smooth and of spreading consistency. Makes 12 medium-sized cup cakes.

Duo Piano Concert Saturday At Andrews

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Hadden Duo Piano Team will present a concert, "A Fresh

Look At the Greats," at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 25, in Johnson auditorium, Andrews university.

This is the fourth program in the 1975-76 concert picture series. Single adult admission is $2.50. Special rates are available for children and senior citizens and season tickets are still available at the college business office.

The piano team consists of Richard M. Hadden and his wife, Frances Routs Hadden, of Mackinac Island.

They have performed in numerous countries in Europe and Asia and for heads of state and prime ministers of 14 nations, including Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai.

The Haddens, who hold master of music degrees in music literature from the University of Michigan, have composed music for motion pictures and musical theater and have accompanied several dramatic-musical cultural missions to critical world areas. They are reputed to be the first western musicians to have performed in China since the communist take-over in 1949.

Release Croce Songs

NEW YORK (AP) — The first release from the new record company, Lifesong Records, will be a two-LP set sung by the late singer-songwriter Jim Croce. The songs are previously unheard on record and give a chronological history of his singing career. One is Croce singing "Old Man River."

One of the four sides of "The Faces I've Been" is what producers Terry Cashman and Tommy West believe would have been on Croce's fourth LP. He had cut the voice and guitar tracks before he died and they finished the instrumentation and mixing.

Croce died in a plane crash in the fall of 1973.

Weird And Wonderful

Halloween superstitions still abound in Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

According to researcher Sally Hopkins, an Irish legend says that milk kept in a house on Halloween often will be turned sour by elves or goblins. It's also considered unlucky there to sit on a table or stub one's toe at Halloween.

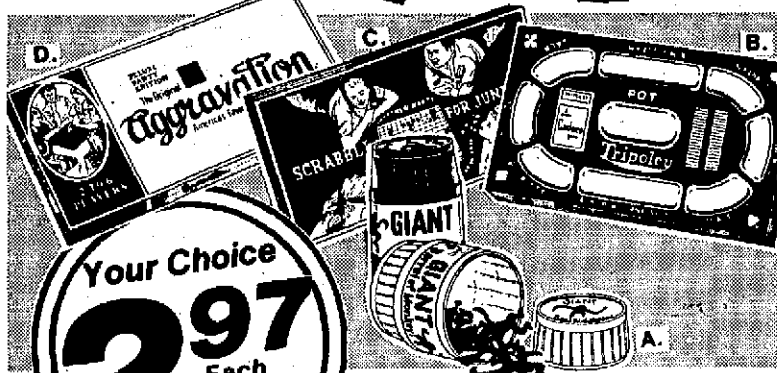

In parts of Wales, says Hopkins, sneezing on Halloween is thought to be dangerous, for the soul supposedly might then leave the body. Another Welsh superstition holds that bubbles seen in a teacup or an itching skin foretell the arrival of visitors on Halloween night.

Some Scottish people, says Hopkins, still cover their mirrors at Halloween, because legend recounts that one's soul can be "captured" by a reflected image. On the other hand, it's considered lucky in Scotland to pick up a pin or repay a debt at Halloween.

Milliken Declines To Ask Tax Hike To Balance Budget

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has decided not to recommend a tax increase this year to balance Michigan's capsize budget.

Increasing taxes was one option under serious consideration.

Milliken's budget director, Gerald Miller, said Tuesday Milliken had not ruled out the possibility of a state income tax hike or a boost in the tax on such things as cigarettes and liquor.

Miller said a tax increase of some kind was an "option" and that Milliken had "not rejected any option."

But late in the afternoon,

GOV. WILLIAM MILLIKEN
None for now

Milliken issued a statement from his office, declaring the tax option was dead for awhile.

"My recommendations will not include a tax increase," the governor said. "While final decisions have not been made on the recommendations, I want to emphasize my determination to do all possible to avoid tax increases at this time."

Milliken said he was considering reducing government spending, but refused to elaborate on other budget-cutting recommendations he will make to the legislature.

Miller, director of the Department of Management and Budget, refused to say after meeting with the governor how far the state is in debt. Some estimates have put the amount at over $200 million.

Michigan's income tax jumped from 3.9 per cent to 4.6 per cent this year. Milliken has said he opposes further tax increases this year and would be "reluctant" to hike taxes next year, said George Weeks, Milliken's executive secretary.

Milliken said in a special message to the legislature Oct. 13 that state officials should trim the budget "without adding to economic burdens already faced by our citizens."

Miller said budget cutting will require layoffs of an undisclosed number of state workers. The state Constitution prohibits deficit spending.

The governor will make his budget cut recommendations to legislative leaders in a day or two, Miller said. At that time, Milliken also will have a firm estimate of the size of the deficit and what will be needed to erase it, Miller said.

Miller refused to be specific on any budget proposals. He responded to many questions by replying, "The governor is looking at all options and has not rejected any option. He is attempting to minimize the burden on the citizens."

A Call To Meany?

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit union local official says he may appeal to AFL-CIO President George Meany to halt a boycott by the United Farm Workers (UFW) against Detroit outlets of Farmer Jack supermarkets.

Horace Brown, president of Retail Store Employees Union Local 876, said Tuesday his members are being "victimized unfairly" by the protests.

Brown said he will lodge his initial protest with William Marshall, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, and if that doesn't work, he will go to Washington.

Sex Education Bill 'Cleaned Up'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The sponsor of a controversial bill to permit the teaching of birth control in sex education classes has introduced a new — and identical — bill.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, introduced the measure Tuesday, explaining that it is a "clean bill" with amendments added to the first bill on the legislature's floor written into the new bill's text.

He indicated he hoped it wouldn't attract the intense debate his original bill has.

Bursley's initial bill has been defeated once and is awaiting reconsideration. Bursley said he would decide whether to abandon it after "counting noses" to see if he has the votes to pass it. The measure, which has been under debate in the legislature since 1967 but has never been enacted, attracted vehement opposition again this year when it was reported out of committee. The Senate galleries have been packed with women wearing signs opposing the measure, Senate Bill 399.

It was soundly defeated last summer on a first vote. Bursley indicated his new bill may have a better chance.

"Some senators have committed themselves to vote against 399, so we're giving them a new number," he smiled. The new bill is tagged SB 1154.

"I had hoped to keep this as quiet as possible," Bursley said. "It puts the amendments into a clean bill to try and clear up the misunderstanding and misinformation."

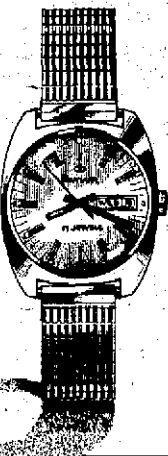

The new bill, like the one before the Senate, removes the current prohibition against teaching birth control in sex education classes. It would permit the state Board of Education, in conjunction with the Department of Public Health, to establish guidelines on the teaching of contraception, sex hygiene and venereal disease.

A local school district could use those guidelines or develop its own in conjunction with its county or district department of public health.

The bill specifies that the class would be an "elective" and students who did not participate would not be penalized in terms of class credit.

Writer Susan Brownmiller Says Males Using Rape As Method Of Oppression

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Susan Brownmiller calls herself the world's leading authority on rape.

"It's the most immodest statement I've ever made in my life but it's true," said Ms. Brownmiller, who as a leader in feminist movement prefers that designation. "There never were any authorities on rape before. It remained for the woman's movement to lead us to explain our own terrorization and oppression through rape."

WRITES BOOK ON RAPE: Susan Brownmiller, shown here on the streets of lower Manhattan, New York City, calls herself the world's leading authority on rape. Her book, "Against Our Will — Men, Women and Rape," is a prodigious analysis of the history and meaning of rape and has been hailed as the most important feminist treatise since "Sexual Politics" and "The Female Eunuch." Congress May Cut Power Of Federal Regulators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency orders a reduction in parking places in Boston and Los Angeles. The Civil Aeronautics Board says the cost of an airline ticket to Miami can be increased. A boatyard owner is forced to install a safety ladder leading out of water three feet deep. A child's toy is declared unsafe.

These are some of the federal rules and regulations drawn by the staffs of 67 agencies. Last year, the agencies drew up 7,496 fresh regulations while Congress was enacting 404 laws.

The regulations have the force of law. They often carry criminal penalties of heavy fines and jail, and have one more thing in common: Congress never specifically approved them.

Instead, the regulations were drawn to implement broad mandates of Congress given at the time of passage of laws, for example, to clean up pollution, regulate airlines and to assure safety of workers.

Now, a move is under way to give Congress a legislative veto, broad power to set aside any rules or regulations with a negative vote of either house.

Congress has approved limited veto power in such cases as the rules of the Federal Election Commission. And it can always pass another law, as was the case in doing away with the regulatory requirement for car seat-belt interlock systems.

But passing a new law "is a cumbersome method," for dealing with the problem, says Rep. Walter Flowers, D-Ala. He's chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee which took the first testimony Tuesday on several bills that have the combined backing of one-third of the House membership.

Rep. Elliott H. Levitas, D-Cal., said the bureaucracy has become "a fourth, nonconstitutional branch of government with a thick tangle of regulations."

Still, the agencies have defenders. Rep. George Danielson, D-Calif., reckons that only 1 per cent of federal rules "are offensive." He did feel the proposed EPA parking regulations for Los Angeles "would have been like an atomic bomb hitting the Southern California economy." The rule was aimed at reducing automobile pollution.

Rep. Edward W. Pattison, D-N.Y., said the trick with the legislation will be to somehow respect personal freedom and protect against threats to people's health and welfare.

Several of the congressmen who testified Tuesday were of the common belief that the current state of regulatory affairs was Congress' fault in not being more specific when passing laws.

As yet there is no uniform administration position. President Ford has often spoken against what he calls excessive federal interference in business affairs.

In the past, single agencies have opposed congressional vetoes of their regulations on grounds it was either unconstitutional or interference with executive branch prerogatives.

England and Australia are countries whose legislatures have vetoes over rules and regulations. And Connecticut and Michigan are states with broad legislative veto powers.

reviewed it agree.

In a relentless, often chilling, presentation of case histories, statistics, legal interpretations throughout the ages, Ms. Brownmiller argues her case that rape is "nothing more or less than a conscious process of intimidation by which all men keep all women in a state of fear."

She examines interracial rape, homosexual rape in prisons, psychology and rape, war and rape and much more.

"I wanted to destroy all the myths about rape — that women ask for it, that the only rapists are sexual psychopaths, that no woman can be raped against her will. I wanted to make a contribution to the world's thinking," said Ms. Brownmiller. "Everything I am and everything I ever wanted to be are in that book."

Ms. Brownmiller, whose background includes journalism and two years as a civil rights worker in Mississippi, was a pioneer activist in the women's movement. (Her reputation as the militant heavy is strong. TV interviewer Barbara Walters recently told Ms. Brownmiller she took special pains to wear an ultra-feminine dress to balance the author's expected appearance in something akin to combat gear.)

Ms. Brownmiller organized the New York Radical Feminist "speak-out" on rape in 1971. She says she began to see unexplored ramifications of rape while listening to personal testimonies from women at that conference. The book took more than four years of research and writing.

"There were moments when I thought I would never finish. I was asking all those questions that had never been asked before," said the 40-year-old Ms. Brownmiller.

The only break she allowed herself in months of library research was to enroll in a self-defense course in which she broke her collarbone, halting work for a month. To finance the project, which took three years longer than anticipated, Ms. Brownmiller was obliged to apply for grants.

She says she is especially grateful to the friends who encouraged her to forget about deadlines. She says she's also grateful to the man she was living with at the time.

"He gave me great emotional support and kept reminding me that, indeed, not all men were rapists," laughed Ms. Brownmiller.

She is offended when people ask if she herself has been raped.

"I simply would not have had the emotional stamina to do the book," said Ms. Brownmiller. But she said that only a feminist could have rediscovered and redefined rape.

"One has to start with the experience of the raped woman and accept it at face value," she said.

Her advice to women regarding rape is "know your own rights. Be a strong woman. Don't be afraid."

She wishes more women would go to law school to help change rape codes and join the police force to help victims.

And if she were ever in a rape situation herself, she says, "I would fight to the death. I'd go down fighting. There's no assurance that the rapist isn't going to kill you after you submit anyway. Look at the Richard Speck murders."

But Ms. Brownmiller says rape is a crime that can be eliminated.

"I believe that human nature can change, that new ideas can help change people," she said. "Once it was said that slavery and lynching would never be abolished. They were. But we need the help of men. Men must cease to support the rapists among them."

'Woman' Is Really Big Show On Public Television

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Four years ago, Sandra Elkin, a newcomer to Buffalo, N.Y., approached the management of public TV station WNED there with an idea for a weekly half-hour talk show for and about women.

This year, her idea, now bearing the series title of "Woman," began its fourth season on WNED and its third year on the national public TV hookup of the Public Broadcasting Service — PBS.

The series, which discusses topics ranging from rape to shared child custody, has had as guests some fairly big names in the feminist movement, among them writers Gloria Steinem and Susan Brownmiller.

It also has lesser-known guests, such as two women inmates of a prison in Missouri. And even a male midwife has appeared on the show.

All but two women-in-prison shows were taped in Buffalo.

And one of Mrs. Elkin's biggest desires is to get enough money to take the show to other parts of America, showing the changing times for women as well as discussing them.

But the fact the series she produces and moderates even is on the air is a tribute both to her determination and WNED's willingness to give a chance to an idea of someone who'd never even worked in TV before.

Mrs. Elkin, who moved to the Buffalo area in 1969 from Vermont with her two sons and her husband, only had worked backstage in summer theater productions before she proposed her "Woman" series to WNED.

What triggered the idea, she said, was a series of discussions with other women in her area about the lack of information of matters of great interest to women, particularly health issues.

"I just wanted something straightforward," she said. "I just wanted to say, 'All right, here's the subject and let's just tell what we can about it.'"

Her proposal so impressed WNED program director James L. Hutchinson Jr. that he got the station to bankroll the series (he declined to say how much the first 24-show season cost) from its own limited funds.

The list of proposed topics expanded, as did viewership of the show. Mrs. Elkin says the Eastern Educational Network began running the series six months after it began, and PBS picked it up a year later.

But Hutchinson says WNED wasn't reimbursed for the cost of the series until last season when, under a new PBS cost-sharing plan, stations airing the series paid a pro-rated portion of the tab.

This year, PBS says, 142 public TV licensees put up a total of $188,461 for 52 "Woman" programs. Each program is transmitted nationally by PBS at 10:30 p.m. EDT on Tuesdays.

Mrs. Elkin says WNED has had no luck yet getting foundations or corporations to help support the show. Initially, she said, those contacted often sighed, "Oh, if only you were doing this from New York."

The rationale, she theorized, was that a New York-made series would get far more viewers and publicity than a made-in-Buffalo effort.

Now, she says, potential underwriters say there's already a lot of women's programming on TV, compared to the old days. Or they say, "Well, why do you have to have programming just for women?"

And how does she respond to the last?

"Well, my feeling is, there's a certain amount of catching up to do," she said. "And until there's a certain amount of integration and presentation of women realistically, of not treating them like idiots, I think we have to play catch-up for a good long time."

"And then we'll say, 'Okay, this isn't necessary anymore.' But at the moment, it is very necessary."

TRACTOR MISHAP
GLADWIN, Mich. (AP) — A 60-year-old Gladwin man, Irwin Frazer, was killed Monday when his tractor tipped over and crushed him, Gladwin County sheriff's deputies report.

Deputies said Frazer was driving his tractor up an incline on his area farm when the mishap occurred.

The Rock Island's Heading For Big Collision

By CHRIS J. HARPER
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The Rock Island Line has been spluttering out of financial difficulty, officials say, but its management and a Chicago financier are headed for a collision over whether the railroad should keep rolling.

"Both the economy and the Rock Island are building back," said President John Ingram, who has been trying to save the line since it filed last March for the railroad's third reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws.

But Henry Crown, head of General Dynamics in Chicago, said the railroad should sell its more than $400 million in equipment and go out of business.

"The only time the Rock Island makes money is when there's a good harvest. The Rock Island is in horrible shape," said Crown, whose family holds about 8 per cent of the railroad's 2.9 million shares of stock and $34.4 million worth of Rock Island bonds and debentures.

The railroad, known officially as the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co., has lost more than $100 million since 1964, primarily because Rock Island officials had expected a merger with the Union Pacific in 1962. The Interstate Commerce Commission delayed its decision until 1974 when the Union Pacific's interest had lagged and the Rock Island had deteriorated further.

Yet the summer months of 1975 were some of the best in recent years for the Rock Island, which has 7,300 miles of track serving more than 700 communities and 1,700 grain elevators in 13 Midwestern states.

JOHN INGRAM

Administrative costs have been trimmed substantially, and its bank balance has increased from $200,000 to $13 million since March. Ingram predicted that the railroad may be able to turn a profit, excluding expenses for capital construction, by the end of the year.

About 3,800 employees, including 400 executives, have been cut from the payroll since Jan. 1 to bring the total work force down to 8,200, said Vice President John Mitros. The number of persons on expense accounts has been cut from about 1,500 to 300, saving an estimated $100,000 a year on lunches alone, he said.

"If we can keep our costs under control the way we have in the last two months, and if the general economy turns up, we could become one of the richest railroads in the country," said William Gibbons, the court-appointed trustee for the railroad.

Even so, reorganization usually takes a long time. It took five years from 1915 to 1920 for the Rock Island's first reorganization, and 15 years when the railroad was reorganized in 1948.

Ingram, who came to the Rock Island in November after serving as head of the Federal Railroad Administration, said that the railroad has been mismanaged in the past. But he said that the railroad still provides essential services to the Midwest.

A crucial test probably may occur later this month when U.S. District Court Judge Frank McGarr is expected to rule whether the Rock Island can sell $18 million in trustee certificates for a rebuilding program.

But a group of bondholders, including Crown, the First National Bank of Chicago, and the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co., have opposed the sale because the repayment of the bonds would take precedence over other outstanding debts.

Franco Appears Near End Of Rule

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco was believed nearing the end of his long rule today after an acute heart attack, and political sources predicted Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon would replace him as chief of state within weeks or even days.

The government denied reports abroad that Western Europe's last dictator had died on Tuesday, and officially he was still in power. But he was in seclusion at his Pardo Palace just outside Madrid, and a high diplomatic source said his condition was grave.

Already afflicted with Parkinson's disease, the 82-year-old leader who has ruled Spain with an iron hand for 36 years became ill last Thursday with influenza.

His doctors were reported to have detected fluctuations in his heart beat at the time, and on Monday night he reportedly suffered an attack of endocarditis, or inflammation of the heart valves.

A two-paragraph announcement told Spain's 35 million people Tuesday that their leader had suffered an "acute coronary crisis" but was recovering and had resumed some of his normal activities.

Vicente Cardinal Enrique y Tarazona, the archbishop of Madrid, asked the public to pray for Franco and for the future of the country.

There was no reaction from the public. But the gravity of the generalissimo's illness was evidenced by two long visits to his residence Tuesday by Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and by the concern of the government in denying the reports of his death.

Informed sources said Franco and the premier discussed whether to transfer the powers of the chief of state to the 37-year-old prince Franco designated six years ago to succeed him when he died or retired.

Franco made just such a transfer of his powers 15 months ago when an attack of blood clotting nearly killed him. But he resumed his office after 40 days.

The law of succession provides that in the event of Franco's death, the Cortes, or parliament, has eight days to proclaim Juan Carlos Spain's first king since his grandfather, King Alfonso XIII, fled from the country in 1931.

Juan Carlos did not go to El Pardo Tuesday but met with Arias immediately after the premier's second visit to Franco. The prince also lunched with the president of the Cortes, Alejandro Rodriguez de Valcarlos.

Put Her In Hands Of Lord, Karen's Dad Asks Court

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — "Take her from the machine and the tubes connected to her and let her pass into the hands of the Lord," Karen Ann Quinlan's adoptive father pleaded with the court.

Karen Ann's mother was to take the stand today to repeat that plea, urging the court to allow doctors to disconnect a respirator that has kept their comatose daughter breathing for almost six months.

Julia Quinlan, a petite, red-haired mother of three, who has watched her vivacious 21-year-old daughter lapse into a "vegetative state," has asked that "Karen be allowed to die with dignity."

Briefs filed before the trial indicated Mrs. Quinlan will testify that her daughter said weeks before she became ill that if she ever became terminally ill, she wouldn't want to be kept alive by artificial means. The comments were made during a family discussion about two friends who were dying of cancer, according to the Quinlan's attorney, Paul W. Armstrong.

It has not been determined what caused Miss Quinlan's illness, but doctors who first treated her in April suspected she had used tranquilizers and liquor together at a party.

Her father, Joseph, testified before Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr. on Tuesday that he believes it is God's will that Karen should be removed from the respirator at St. Clare's Hospital so "nature can take its course. It's the Lord's will, for some reason he wants to take her."

"We had done everything possible to help her and now we had no hope," Quinlan said, recalling his feeling when doctors told him three months ago that his daughter's coma was irreversible.

Quinlan said that if the court grants his request, he will have a doctor remove the respirator as his family and parish priests watch at Miss Quinlan's bedside.

"If the court doesn't agree with me I don't know what I'll do," he said.

Two doctors who have cared for Miss Quinlan testified Monday that they would not disconnect the respirator, even if ordered to do so by the court. They said she is alive by all medical criteria.

The state has argued that it could be considered homicide to disconnect the respirator.

Dr. Julius Korein, a neurologist testifying for the Quinlans, said, "I and many of my colleagues do not believe in saying a life that will lie as a vegetable for 10 years."

And Korein said he believed the purpose of the Quinlan's case was to bring into the open and make legal what he termed "an unwritten practice among doctors," to withhold treatment from patients who have no hope of survival as normal human beings.

Korein said doctors treating terminally ill patients sometimes tell nurses such things as: "If this man stops breathing don't resuscitate him."

The Quinlan's action has been endorsed by priests at their local Roman Catholic church. On Tuesday, the chancellor of the Paterson Diocese endorsed the Quinlans' position.

U-M Professor Favors Aid But Not Bail-Out For NYC

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors says some form of federal assistance will be needed to pull New York City out of its current financial crisis.

Paul McCracken, now a University of Michigan professor, said Tuesday he would favor federal guarantees for a portion of New York City's debt so that investors will have some assurance that they will get their money back.

However, McCracken said in an interview, he probably would oppose direct loans to New York City — the so-called "bail-out" approach.

also would require that private investors purchase bonds in which up to 20 per cent of value was unguaranteed.

The proposal would require that state officials impose a special tax of about $420 million to pay about half of New York City's expected operating deficit, but Gov. Hugh Carey voiced strong reluctance to go along with such a plan.

Carey said Tuesday that both New York City and the State of New York will default on their financial obligations if federal aid is denied.

The loan guarantee proposal is one of three suggested to the committee. Another would have the committee take no action, and the third would provide for only standby assistance to maintain essential city services in the event of default.

Meanwhile, the House economic stabilization subcommittee resumes hearings today into the impact of a possible New York City default and is scheduled to hear witnesses from the investment industry.

Study Says Ex-Cons Have Few Job Skills

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A team of Michigan State University researchers has concluded that job placement services won't help the ex-convict find and keep a job. The researchers said ex-convicts usually are young, poorly educated have very poor work histories or have little to offer as marketable skills, and thus cannot be helped by job placement services.

"It is extremely difficult for anyone to place these individuals in any jobs other than those which seem to be available to them already" such as car washer, lawn service and janitor, the team said. "Finding these jobs does not require the skills of a job placement specialist."

Researchers included Dr. Michael E. Bortus and Dr. Einar Hardin of MSU's School of Labor and Industrial Relations and Patterson A. Terry, a graduate student.

"I don't think I would want direct lending," he said.

The economist also said he approves of President Ford's "get-tough" stance with New York City and chided the municipality for what he termed its "lush programs."

"Not many cities have free tuition at colleges and pensions that are higher than final pay," said McCracken, who served on the Council under both Presidents Eisenhower and Nixon.

"I would lay down a balanced current budget as an absolute condition of any federal assistance," McCracken added.

"I would give the federal agency (involved in any debt guarantees) authority to preempt or withdraw its guarantees if the city did not keep its budget balancing act on schedule."

As for President Ford's refusal to make direct loans, McCracken said he believed the President's position was a far more realistic one than those who would rush in and bail out the city.

Meanwhile, a plan being studied by a Senate panel would give New York City $6 billion in federal loan guarantees, but the measure appears doomed because it would require reluctant officials to pass a special state tax.

The proposal, drawn up by the Senate Banking Committee's staff, would grant the federal loan guarantees for one year. It

Bus Companies, Judges, Bears Given A Boost

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan lawmakers on Tuesday considered legislation favoring judges, black bears and intercity bus companies.

HUNGRY? What do you eat a 40-pound edible fungus with? Tony Cianfonia of Columbus, Ohio, seems to have the answer: Giant tableware. (AP Wirephoto) judges' salaries to those of circuit court judges, making a pay increase for the circuit court also a pay raise for the lower court.

The Senate also passed, 26-7, and sent to the governor a bill which requires that hunters obtain permits before using dogs to catch black bears in Michigan.

In other legislative action, the House passed, 62-41, a bill to refund state diesel fuel taxes to intercity bus companies. The measure was sent to the Senate for concurrence with a minor amendment.

The district court judges' salary legislation could mean $4,000 extra for a judge in the county with the highest circuit court pay in the state. Pay levels for circuit judges vary from county to county, and so would district court pay under the measure.

Supporters of the bill, sponsored by Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, say no new state money will be involved, since the measure raises court costs to litigants to pay for the higher salaries. The bill also diverts more money into the judges' retirement fund.

Backers of the black bear hunting bill narrowly avoided a defeat from lawmakers trying to outlaw the use of dogs altogether.

Opponents said many hunters have collected dogs off the street or from pounds and abandoned them after the bear hunt is over.

Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, questioned if "a pack of dogs should be turned loose to chase a frightened animal up a tree so he can be shot by a big, brave hunter."

The bill would require an annual permit from the Department of Natural Resources to use dogs in black bear hunting. Dogs would have to be immunized, licensed and tagged and could not run in packs of more than six or in relays.

The DNR strongly opposed an amendment by Bowman to ban dogs. Wildlife Division Chief David Jenkins said hunting with dogs "is good sport and doesn't cut into the bear population."

Last year, Jenkins said, 508 bears were killed in the Upper Peninsula during the "dog season" and 79 in the Lower Peninsula. He estimated that 30 to 40 per cent of the bear kill was accomplished with dogs.

GM Cutting Car Sizes

DETROIT (AP) — The chairman of General Motors Corp. predicts that nearly three of every four cars the giant auto company sells by 1990 will be in the weight class of today's compacts.

Thomas A. Murphy said cars weighing 3,500 pounds or less "may well account for" more than 70 per cent of GM sales within four years. Currently, only about 20 per cent of the company's cars weigh 3,500 pounds or less.

"That's quite a turnaround for a company that some people thought was wedded to the 'big car,'" Murphy said in a recent speech before members of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Egypt's Sadat Coming To U.S. Sunday

By HARRY DUNPHY
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat is the man who threw the Russians out of Egypt and brought the Americans back in. But to do this he had to fight a war with Israel that triggered an oil embargo.

The 56-year-old leader has broken the equation that has governed Middle East politics for 20 years — that it was the Soviet Union and the Arabs versus the United States and Israel.

In the process the president of the Arab world's most populous country has become an international figure. He puts his stamp on this status with an official visit to the United States starting Sunday, the first by an Egyptian head of state.

On the way over he will call on President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing of France and then British Prime Minister Harold Wilson on the way home. Before the visit, Sadat is expected to meet with Soviet Union or Arab capitals.

During his 11-day stay in the United States, Sadat will hold formal talks with President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger — or "my friend, Henry" as the Egyptian leader often refers to the man who negotiated two Israeli withdrawal from Egyptian land.

PRESIDENT SADAT
Sleeping elsewhere, too

It is also possible Sadat will address a joint session of Congress, a rare honor not so far accorded an Israeli head of state or prime minister despite the Jewish state's close ties with Washington.

He also will speak to the U.N. General Assembly in New York and visit Chicago and Florida for more talks with Ford, and Houston, Texas.

It's his second trip. In 1966, as head of Egypt's National Assembly, Sadat studied Congress, met the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, toured California, visited Disneyland and browsed in New York bookstores.

The second Egyptian-Israeli troop disengagement agreement in Sinai negotiated by Kissinger last summer closed the way for Sadat's official visit, first proposed by former President Richard M. Nixon during his visit here in 1974. It was put off indefinitely when peace efforts later bogged down.

Sadat's face-to-face encounter with President Ford in Salzburg, Austria, last June was a watershed that led to the latest accord after Kissinger's failure in March to obtain a similar settlement.

Now after stabilizing the 27-year-old Middle East crisis Sadat wants to maintain the momentum toward peace.

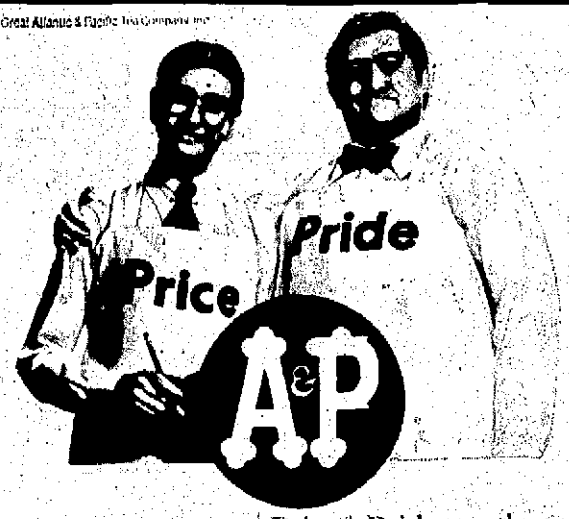

In his talks with Ford, Sadat is expected to stress the necessity of getting negotiations between Israel and her other Arab neighbors moving.

This would get him off the hook of radical Arab and Palestinian charges that he has sold out the Arab cause for a few million dollars in Sinai.

In addition, Sadat will be seeking $600 million to $750 million in aid for Egypt's war-torn economy. He is trying to create an atmosphere of close U.S. cooperation to encourage the private investment he is convinced is the only hope to save Egypt.

For unless the economy is revived and the lot of a poor population of 37 million growing by a million a year improves, the moderate Sadat could be toppled from power.

The move could be a severe blow to U.S. policy because through him the Americans have established a major presence in the Arab world.

Price without Pride is no bargain.

The time has come to put Price & Pride together again.

Fourth Annual Workshop Is Nov. 1 At LMC

The fourth annual Learning Disabilities workshop will be held Saturday, Nov. 1, at Lake Michigan college.

The workshop will be co-sponsored by LMC's division of community services, the southwestern Michigan chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, and the South Bend chapter of the Indiana Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

Thirty-two authorities in the field of children's learning disabilities will participate in the day-long series of meetings with much of the emphasis to be focused on the roles, resources, and remedial opportunities for parents of learning disabled children.

The conference will start at 8 a.m. with registration and a coffee get-together in the LMC student union. A varied program has been planned, according to Harold Stacie, Whitefish Corp. products engineer and workshop coordinator, to help parents and professionals broaden their understanding of learning disabilities.

The workshop, believed to be the largest and most extensive to be held in either Michigan or Indiana, will include some 20 talks, presentations, demonstrations, discussions, and group meetings.

An added feature of this year's program, which has been designed for parents of children with learning disabilities as well as for those who work with such children, will be two special symposia, one dealing with hyperactivity and the other with adolescence. Dr. June Sklodian, of Madonna college, Livonia, will lead the former, and Al Katzman, deputy director of Wayne county children's services, will moderate the latter.

The symposium on hyperactivity will include participants from the medical profession as well as the education who will present current information and answer questions from the parents and professionals who attend.

The symposium on adolescence will include representatives from vocational rehabilitation agencies.

General workshop sessions of the conference will cover a wide variety of interests in the area of learning disabilities, according to Stacie, ranging from remedial activities and what parents can do to aid their learning disabled child to allergies, auditory perception, and a new approach to learning disabilities.

Katzman will be the keynote speaker at the opening morning session and will address conference participants on the subject, "Let's Return Adolescence to the Teen-Agers."

Dr. Sklodian will be the principal speaker at the 11:30 a.m. buffet luncheon. Subject of her remarks will be "The Problems of the Hyperactive Parent."

Reservations for all or parts of the workshop and additional information about the conference can be obtained by writing to or telephoning: MACLD Workshop Headquarters, Community Services Division, Lake Michigan college, 1775 East Napier avenue, Benton Harbor, 49022.

He's Seeking A New Home For Treasure

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An Akron-area man says he can't take it with him so he's looking for a sensitive person to give a good home to a 3-year-old child of 3,000 bones — Steve Todd, 22, of suburban Bath Township says he's moving and hates to part with the child who lives in his bedroom walls, front floor to ceiling. He's been collecting them since he was 17.

Todd says the only requirement for the new owner is that he or she appreciate the collection and cherish it.

Bridge Opening During November In New Buffalo

NEW BUFFALO — New Buffalo city council learned last night that the new Whitaker street bridge over the Galien river is expected to be opened the second weekend in November. Thomas Deneau, engineer for G.L. Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, told the council exact time and date will be announced within the next week. A luncheon for public officials and news media will follow the ribbon cutting ceremony.

In other areas, the council voted that Detroit street residents who installed their own sidewalks will be charged engineering fees for the sidewalk project. Cost will be 50 cents per front running foot. Mayor Roland Oseika said only those residents whose sidewalks were installed prior to the project's start will be exempt.

The council unanimously approved a request from Gordon Christopher to rezone a block of Clay street, adjacent to the high school athletic fields, from parks and recreation to medium density residential.

boys who demanded money, "but I was afraid the police might do something, too."

"A man, whom police identified only as a friend of some of the women living in the square, finally called police after learning of Mrs. Weiderich's harassment."

Mrs. Weiderich said she hoped the arrests would stop youngsters from coming to her door for cash, but added:

"The next time, I go to the police."

Mrs. Nimitz Really 57, No Fooling

"I'm 57 not 75," Mrs. Virginia Nimitz stated emphatically this morning after her age was reported as 75 in Tuesday's Herald-Palladium.

"Everyone has been calling me, except the Social Security office. They want to know how I've managed to fool them about my age."

Mrs. Nimitz of Glendora road, south of Baroda, was mentioned in an account of the robbery of Shipley's grocery of Glendora road, because she assisted the owner of the grocery after the robbery had occurred.

$200 Million Note Sale

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will issue $200 million in notes to assure school aid payments for December and January, State Treasurer Allison Green announced Tuesday. The note sale marks another chapter in Michigan's continuing fight to avoid deficit spending. The notes will be repaid next June, with about $5 million in interest added, Green said. Issuance of the notes was authorized earlier Tuesday by the State Administrative Board. Green will sell the notes to bidders Nov. 5. He said he expects bankers to buy them. Because cash was not on hand, the state could only scrape up about $97 million of the $194 million needed for state school aid for the October-November period. The other $97 million will be paid Oct. 28 as more tax collections roll in, Green said.

Halloween Poison Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation aimed at punishing those who put drugs or poison in candy for Halloween trick-or-treaters has cleared the House Judiciary Committee. The bill adds "harmful substances" to a 1971 law that made it a felony to put pins, razor blades, glass or other objects into food at any time with "intent to harm." The measure was sponsored by state Rep. Casper Ogonowski, D-Detroit, and was unanimously approved Tuesday by the committee. It now goes to the full House. The Judiciary Committee also unanimously approved and sent to the House bills removing a gambling ban on pinball games and lifting hot-air balloons from state fireworks regulations.

Viet Vet Benefits Unclaimed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — About 50,000 Vietnam-era veterans in Michigan have not yet claimed their state bonuses of up to $600 each, the Department of Military Affairs said Tuesday. "We wish those guys would get in touch so we could wrap things up early," said Capt. Michael Rice, director of the bonus section of the military affairs department. Since the bonus bureau opened nine months ago, it has settled 271,000 claims and paid out $130 million. The deadline for filing for a bonus is July 30, 1980.

Quail Season Extended

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has signed a bill to extend the Michigan quail hunting season by 10 days. The bill lengthens the season from Oct. 27 to Nov. 25. It previously ran from Nov. 1 to Nov. 20. The measure also raises the daily hunting limit from four to five quail and the season limit from 12 to 15 birds. The bill was passed by the House last week.

Yanks Kidnaped In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two American employees of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut were kidnaped today in one of the battle zones of Lebanon's Christian-Muslim war, the Embassy announced. The Americans were kidnaped about 7 a.m. as they were driving to work at the Regional Service Center, a printing plant for the U.S. Information Agency, an Embassy spokesman said. He refused to reveal their names until their families were notified. The two were stopped by unidentified armed men at a roadblock on the Corniche alMazraa, a broad avenue that leads from a high-class seaside neighborhood through Muslim districts. Two major Palestinian guerrilla groups have headquarters on the avenue. A Lebanese employee who was with the Americans was released and brought word of the kidnaping to the Embassy. The spokesman said there was no word from the kidnapers, but Embassy security officers were in touch with the Lebanese police. Premier Rashid Karami received U.S. Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley after getting word of the abduction. It was the first known case of Americans resident in Beirut being kidnaped or killed during the 7-month-old street war between Lebanon's private Muslim and Christian militias. Col. Edward R. Morgan of the U.S. military aid mission in Turkey was kidnaped last June 29 by radical Palestinian guerrillas during earlier fighting in Beirut. He was released unharmed on July 12 after the Lebanese government distributed food supplies in a poor district of the city.

U.S. Implicates Judge Lesinski

to be one of the central points of the trial.

Ozer portrayed Whalen as a man who had helped the Secret Service and the FBI by turning informant. He was pictured as a contributor to building the case against Swainson.

The defense lashed back with Whalen's criminal record, calling him a "hardened criminal who is out on the streets despite his nefarious acts and... the fact he caused more crimes than Jesse James."

The opening day of the trial was taken up with the prosecution's and defense's opening statements, plus a six-hour appearance on the witness stand by Chief Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh of the Michigan Supreme Court.

Kavanagh went through exhaustive questioning about his knowledge of efforts to get a new trial for Whalen, who was convicted in 1970 of the 1969 burglary of an Adrian jewelry store.

Ozer outlined the government's contention that Swainson, bondsman Charles Goldfarb and Wish were in on a scheme to pay a $30,000 bribe to Swainson to get a new trial for Whalen.

The government in its opening statement characterized Swainson as the recipient of a color television set from Wish, his fellow defendant, as a man who perjured himself on three occasions before the federal grand jury, and as a man who was a principal in the payment of the $30,000 bribery scheme.

Ozer told how Whalen agreed to let himself be outfitted with telephone receiving equipment so some of his conversations with Goldfarb and Swainson could be heard by FBI agents. As a sample of how effective the telephone taps were, several tapes and recording devices were on the prosecution table waiting to be introduced into evidence by the FBI.

The FBI, Ozer said, saw the payment of $12,500 of the $20,000 it said found its way into Swainson's hands. Ozer said the FBI set up surveillance too late on the occasion of the first $7,500 payoff and missed seeing it.

Ozer said Swainson first denied to the grand jury that he had done any wrong, but that when he found the FBI had him under surveillance for several days, he went back before the grand jury and changed some of his story.

The government probe led to an indictment charging Swainson, a longtime Democratic power in Michigan, with perjury, bribery and conspiracy.

Visiting U.S. District Judge Carl B. Rubin of Cincinnati kept the trial at a fast pace in its opening seven-hour session as an all-white jury of seven women and five men heard the evidence.

Chief Justice Kavanagh said under questioning that "Swainson never tried to influence my vote on the Whalen case when it came up for possible rehearing or any other case."

Kavanagh said that he was at one time the main believer in the validity of a retrial for Whalen. He said his own inquiry led him to believe the prosecution was unfair to Whalen when he was tried in Lenawee County Circuit Court.

Kavanagh said his interest in the case dated back to Oct. 7, 1972, when the court turned down Whalen's bid for a new trial or a rehearing. He said Swainson was against the new trial at that time and that Swainson seconded a motion at the judges' meeting opposing a new trial.

Kavanagh explained that under the Supreme Court operations, a commissioner was named to study the Whalen case and come up with a recommendation as to whether a new trial should be held.

He said the commissioner recommended against the trial, but that he (Kavanagh) was still in favor of giving Whalen a new trial — not on the evidence, but on Kavanagh's belief the prosecution had been too rough on Whalen at the original trial.

Judge Rubin took a dim view of defense efforts to determine if Kavanagh felt Swainson had any self interest in his later efforts to get a new trial for Whalen. The court ruled out several such questions.

President Ordered To Testify

today, is a follower of cult leader Charles Manson, who was convicted with three women followers of killing actress Sharon Tate and six others in 1969.

U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes argued that Ford's testimony would not be necessary because there were other witnesses to the incident. He said Ford could not add anything to his FBI statement and accused Miss Fromme of seeking publicity by petitioning to have Ford as a witness.

Also during Tuesday's hearing, MacBride refused to dismiss as evidence some .45-caliber bullets and a book on handguns that FBI agents said they found at Miss Fromme's apartment.

And Heller told the court that some evidence seized at the apartment and from Miss Fromme's car may have a connection with "another matter we want to present to the grand jury." He said the items included a map and some "threatening letters," but he would not elaborate when a reporter asked about the comment.

As the hearing broke for a noon recess, MacBride ordered Miss Fromme removed from the court when she refused to obey his order to be silent. Miss Fromme had risen from the defense table to speak after he refused to ban the book and bullets as evidence.

As she was led from the courtroom, Miss Fromme turned back and shouted, "No more duck hunting. Don't you understand it's shameful you have to shoot birds out of the sky for recreation?"

The comment apparently referred to MacBride's appearance Monday night on a local television program marking the opening of the duck hunting season.

New Buffalo Officer Suspended 3 Days

NEW BUFFALO — Lt. Edward Payne, New Buffalo policeman, had been suspended from the police department for three days by William Marx, city manager. Contacted yesterday, Marx said that Payne, a 14-year-veteran of the department, was suspended without pay for three days that began Sunday and ended yesterday.

Marx said the suspension was over an "inter-departmental" matter. He described his suspension of Payne as disciplinary, and declined to make any further comment.

Payne, 47, declined to comment on his suspension when contacted this morning.

Marx said the suspension was not a result of an article appearing in the New Buffalo Times on Thursday, Oct. 16. The story reported on a "power play" in the New Buffalo city police department.

The New Buffalo newspaper also reported that Payne, "... claims forces are at work to either demote him or do him out of a job altogether." The story quoted Police Chief Dale Siebenmark as saying that he was attempting to update his department and is considering establishment of a new assistant police chief's job.

The newspaper said Payne felt Siebenmark would "... like to see him (Payne) demoted or removed from office and thus make room for another member of the force, Sgt. Al Harrington, to be made first lieutenant or possibly assistant chief."

Payne would not comment on

Lt. EDWARD PAYNE

New Buffalo policeman suspended the article, but did say he was quoted accurately.

Chief Siebenmark is quoted in the story as saying Payne would not be demoted and would remain in the same office at the same pay.

When contacted yesterday, Siebenmark referred Lt. Payne's suspension to Marx.

Covert Recount Narrows Millage Win To 6 Votes

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — An unannounced recount of the contested Covert school millage election of Aug. 4 has reduced the issue's margin of victory to six votes, 488 to 482.

The recount, which was completed in September, has also shown that some 11 people who voted by machine on the 16-mill proposal may not have had their ballots recorded.

According to W.A. Stewart, chairman of the Van Buren county board of canvassers, there is an apparent 11-vote discrepancy between the number of people recorded as voting and the number of ballots cast.

Stewart said it was possible that the 11 voters may have left the booth without pulling a lever which recorded the vote.

The recount report said that one voting machine showed 360 ballots had been recorded, but that 367 persons had actually voted. The other machine showed a total of 228 votes cast, but 238 people voting.

"All the above totals and figures agree with the statement report to the board of canvassers," the report said. "The 11 vote difference in public counter totals was noted but no explanation offered."

The discrepancy is the latest in the school vote tabulation that County Clerk Charles McDonald previously said was mishandled almost from the time the first ballots were counted at the school.

The recount was conducted after petitions signed by 350 Covert school district residents were presented to the canvassing board, according to Covert township Supervisor Jerry Sarno.

According to the report of the board of canvassers, the 16-mill property tax proposal was approved by a 488 to 482 margin with seven ballots spoiled.

A month earlier, on Aug. 15, after a day-long session, the canvassing board said the vote was 488 to 452 after ruling that all but 44 of 172 challenged ballots should be counted. The board ruled seven ballots were spoiled.

The night of the election, Covert Supt. William Randall reported the vote was 481 to 325 but did not report that the school board secretary and a qualified challenger had challenged 176 absentee ballots never counted with initial returns.

Bangor Schools Act To Restore Sports, Driver's Education

BANGOR — The Bangor school board announced yesterday it has instructed Fred Stap, acting superintendent, to re-institute several programs which had previously been cut from the 1975-76 school year.

Stap said this morning he is taking steps to re-institute basketball and the other remaining inter-school sports; restore a high school guidance counselor; restore the drivers' education program and hire an additional first grade and high school teacher.

The additional high school teacher will enable guidance counselor David Wagner to resume counseling duties at the high school instead of teaching classes, Stap said.

The decision to re-institute the programs was made Monday after board members reviewed in executive session revenue and expenses for the 1975-76 school year.

"Because of the teacher settlement, we now know how much cash we have to spend," said Stap.

A week earlier, the board had approved a contract with the teachers calling for a 4.25 per cent raise and it adopted a budget of $1,339,183 for the 1975-76 school year.

In its statement released yesterday, the board also announced it has requested a school audit to be performed by the state department of public instruction.

In September, a 12-member citizens committee had recommended in a series of five recommendations that the board re-instate most of the cuts made in sports and teaching positions.

School Board President Donald Piper said this morning the programs were not re-instituted in response to the citizens committee recommendations.

"We would have done it anyway," said Piper. "We want all the programs we can afford. We just didn't know what we could afford until after the teachers contract was completed and until after we knew enrollment and state aid."

Piper and four other board members are the target of recall petitions circulated throughout the district last week. Paul French, chairman of the citizens group behind the recall drive, reported Monday that over 500 signatures had been collected.

The recall is being sought, said French, because the board members failed to support the series of five recommendations made by the 12-member citizens committee in September.

Other board members for whom recall is being sought are Forest Gough, Fred Waite, Richard Kroegel and Dr. Joseph Cooper.

Accused Driver Faces Trial

Edward E. Harden, 35, of 1721 North St. Joseph road, Berrien Springs, was bound over to Circuit court Tuesday on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with the death of a 19-year-old woman.

He is charged as the driver of a front-end loader which crashed head-on with a car driven by Kathleen O'Brien, 19, of Britain avenue, Benton township. She was killed in the crash, which occurred on Britain avenue, Benton township, Sept. 17.

Following examination in Berrien Fifth District court Harden was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

WATERVLIET MAYOR BREAKS TIE Liquor By Glass Rejected

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet city commission Tuesday night denied a Watervliet tavern's request to sell liquor by the glass on a tie-breaking vote by Mayor Robert Flaherty.

The decisive vote by Flaherty — only his fifth in 14½ years on the commission — came after the other six commissioners deadlocked 3-3 on the request by Roy's Bar, 506 Main street.

The mayor votes only to break ties. Flaherty later said he was under the impression that last night's special meeting was held to approve the transfer of ownership of the tavern, not to approve issuance of a Class C license.

He said the meeting was requested by Jim Simmons of Stevensville, whom he identified as new owner of the tavern.

Flaherty added that the present owners of the tavern, Robert Bush and June V. Kinzler, did not request the special meeting.

Commissioners casting votes in favor of the request to sell liquor by the glass were Thomas Murphy, Richard Fox and William Fizzell.

Voting against the request were Commissioners Albert Steffens, William Lushbaugh and Paul Muth.

Steffens also questioned why the commission had to meet in special session instead of waiting until the next regular meeting to act on the request.

"It's costing the taxpayers $50 for this meeting just so we could do someone a favor," he said.

Plea To Reduced Charge Entered In June Slaying

A Chicago man charged with murder in the shooting of a New Buffalo wedding party guest last June pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of manslaughter Tuesday in Berrien Circuit court.

Raymond Gonzales, 41, entered the guilty plea before the start of his scheduled trial on an open charge of murder in the courtroom of Circuit Judge William S. White.

The charge of murder was dismissed and Gonzales remains free on $50,000 bond while awaiting sentencing.

Manslaughter carries a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison and $7,500 fine while murder is punishable by life imprisonment.

Gonzales was charged with the fatal shooting of Ronald L. Carpenter, 28, of Michigan City, Ind., at a wedding party June 8 at the home of Gonzales' brother, Louis, 115 South Marshall street in New Buffalo.

He stood mute when arraigned in circuit court on the charge July 7 and a plea of innocent was entered on his behalf.

Police Seeking Warrant In Niles Highway Fatality

NILES — State police here said this morning that Mrs. Ruth Weaver, 31, route 1, Dowagiac, driver of an auto involved in a Monday night crash south of Niles that killed a former Benton Harbor man, will be charged with negligent homicide.

Jeff Long, assistant Berrien county prosecutor, said that the negligent homicide charge was authorized by his office yesterday and that police were in the process of obtaining a warrant citing Mrs. Weaver on the charge today.

Police said Mrs. Weaver was the driver of an auto that crashed with a car driven by the victim, Gary Kuball, 23, of Niles. Kuball's wife of just over five weeks, Pamela, 19, was one of four people injured in the crash on US-31 in Niles township.

Mrs. Kuball remained hospitalized in Memorial hospital, South Bend, this morning.

Troopers said Mrs. Weaver was headed north on US-31 when an auto pulled in front of her from North street. Police said she swerved into the southbound lanes to avoid the car, and crashed nearly head on with an auto driven by Kuball.

Car Engine Fire Extinguished

Benton Harbor firemen extinguished a small fire in the engine area of a car this morning at the intersection of Highland avenue and McCord street. Firemen said the 1969 Ford station wagon driven by Annie Davis, 1168 East Main street, Benton township, backfired.

Welfare Officials Await Anti-Abortion Law Ruling

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State social services officials are anxiously awaiting an opinion from the state attorney general on the validity of a new anti-abortion law which could jeopardize federal Medicaid money.

The law, written into the state social services budget bill last summer, bans the use of Medicaid money to perform abortions except to protect the life of the mother.

Indications are that the new restrictions are not being enforced. They expire next June at the end of the fiscal year, but state officials fear the stipulations may spark a conflict with federal policies if upheld.

In the last 12 months, the Department of Social Services paid $1.1 million for surgical abortions. Also paid by Medicaid were hospital costs where the treatment was on an in-patient basis.

The cost represented almost 10,500 abortions, department officials said, and the federal government picked up 75 per cent of the cost.

Medicaid payments, shared 50-50 by the state and Washington in other areas, go to welfare recipients.

Several lawmakers have asked for a ruling by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. They argue the law unfairly discriminates against the poor by denying them legal medical services because they cannot pay for them.

John Dempsey, director of the social services department, says he tends to agree.

"Based on my limited knowledge of the law, I assume it's unconstitutional," he said. "It seems to deny equal protection of the laws, because the purpose of Medicaid is to see that the needy get the same treatment as those who can pay their way. But I'm not a lawyer."

Assistant Atty. Gen. Stanley Steinborn said the opinion has been drafted by the attorney general's staff, but still must be reviewed. He refused to indicate what it says.

The new law was written into the budget by the state House during the final days of the long legislative session last summer. Anti-abortion sentiment still runs strong in the legislature, and the language survived a Senate vote when lawmakers saw the bill would be stalled if returned to the House should the new restrictions be taken out.

"We believe it's unconstitutional, and we hope the attorney general will rule on it quickly," said Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, one of those who asked for the ruling. He said if the restrictions are upheld, abortions would not be performed for Medicaid recipients because doctors would know the state won't pay the bills when they submit them.

But so far, bills submitted have been paid despite the new law, social services officials say.

"We haven't told the medical profession anything about the provision," said Bernard Higgins, director of the department's Medicaid program. "We just haven't gotten the information out that we won't pay for non-therapeutic abortions, and until we do, they will get paid."

Higgins said the information will go out this week while the department checks with the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Higgins said the new restrictions may violate HEW rules, and thus the federal share of Medicaid money might be jeopardized. "The option to the state would be to pay the total bill," he said.

"We're saying to the doctor, 'There is some kind of surgery you can perform, and some you can't, and you just can't do that,'" Higgins said.

If the state is forced to follow the restrictions, he said, documentation that an abortion is therapeutic will be required before the state will pay the bill.

Should the rules take effect and the money is shut off, doctors presumably could refuse to perform abortions on Medicaid patients, or the recipient would have to foot the bill herself, Higgins said.

BOSTON (AP) — After three days of rain, they finally played baseball at Fenway Park. And, boy, was it worth waiting for.

With all the drama of Broadway and the walloping of a Hollywood ending, the Boston Red Sox defeated the Cincinnati Reds 7-6 in 12 tension-packed innings Tuesday night and set the stage for tonight's seventh World Series game.

"They will be talking about that game for years to come," said Cincinnati's Pete Rose after the Red Sox tied this incredible World Series at three games apiece. "This game was the best advertisement for baseball you could have."

Rose, who never enjoys losing a game, nevertheless enjoyed playing in the "Green Monster" thriller.

"When he came up to bat in the 10th, Rose leaned over and said to me, 'Wow, this is some kind of game,'" said Boston catcher Carlton Fisk. "I agreed with him. You couldn't ask for a better game."

Fisk ended the wild affair as it should have been ended — with a leadoff home run in the 12th. The ball jumped off Fisk's bat and sailed into the left-field foul pole, bringing the roaring crowd at Fenway to its feet and the Red Sox players streaming onto the soggy field.

"It was a sinker down and in," said Fisk of the home run pitch from Cincinnati reliever Pat Darcy, the "eighth Red" pitcher of the game. "I knew the ball was either going to go foul or be a home run. Since the wind was blowing out, I was afraid the ball might hook around the pole. In fact, I bet the wind took the thing about 15 feet closer to the line than it should have been and it would up hitting the pole just before going around it."

Fisk's blow was the most dramatic of the night because it was the final shot fired at Fenway. But there were many other moments of gorgeous high tension that kept everyone stuck to their seats and television sets.

Washed out of three straight starts by a long-winded storm, the Reds at last were poised for a knockout punch of the Red Sox in game No. 6. But it was Boston that got in the first punches, scoring three quick runs on Fred Lynn's homer into the right-center field seats in the first inning.

It seemed that it would be enough for Luis Tiant, the way

Boston's ace was pitching for the first four innings. He gave up no runs and only two hits and appeared to be well on his way toward a third victory in the crazy, mixed-up series.

It wasn't to be, however. Tiant showed he was only human in the fifth when he gave up three runs, two on a triple by Ken Griffey. His imperfection became more obvious when George Foster unloaded a two-run double in the Cincinnati seventh and Cesar Geronimo laced a home run into the rightfield seats in the eighth.

Geronimo's wallop finished Tiant and gave the Reds a 6-3 lead. With Pedro Borbon pitching overpowering baseball in relief, the Big Red Machine seemed to be driving toward its first World Series title since 1918.

But as everyone soon found out, the game was far from over.

Borbon gave up a leadoff single to Lynn and a walk to Rico Petrocelli. The reliever was taken out of the game in favor of Rawly Eastwick and the Fenway crowd of 35,205 buzzed.

Cincinnati's outstanding youngster quieted the Boston customers by striking out Dwight Evans and getting Rick Burleson on a fly ball. Then he went to a 2-2 count on pinch hitter Bernie Carbo before the former Cincinnati player blasted a game-tying homer into the center field stands, more than 400 feet away.

"It was a fastball over the plate," Carbo said of the key pitch from Eastwick. "I was just trying to make contact in that spot and not strike out, so I stepped out of the box a couple of times to help relax myself. All I was trying to do was just put the ball in play someplace."

The house came down when Carbo hit it out. And the benchwarmer had a ball running around the bases, applauding himself as he enjoyed every second of his journey toward home.

With the ardent cheers of the Red Sox faithful still ringing in the air, the Boston bunch came back with more fireworks in the ninth. They loaded the bases with none out. The noise level reached new heights.

"We thought for sure we should have won it then," said Fisk.

But Boston didn't. Lynn lofted a fly ball to Foster along the left field line and the Cincinnati outfielder gunned down Denny Doyle at home for a double play. Then Petrocelli grounded out and the game went into extra innings.

The Reds had the opportunity to put the Red Sox away but were turned back by an almost unbelievable play by Evans in right in the 11th. With a man on first, Joe Morgan hit a shot that appeared almost certainly headed for home run territory, but the graceful young outfielder speared the ball near the seats and fired back into the infield to complete a double play.

"It was the best catch I've ever seen," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. That catch saved Boston for the 12th, when Fisk delivered his sudden thunder. The broadshouldered catcher leaped in the air when the ball hit the pole, and he joyfully streaked around the bases. When he finished his rounds, there was a mob of fans as well as teammates to welcome him home.

It was a fitting climax to a game that had everything — even a violent collision with the center field wall by Lynn that momentarily stunned the outfielder in the fifth inning.

Lynn, one of the best rookies to come along in the American League for many years, was hurt when he went back in an attempt to catch Griffey's triple. He cracked into the famous Green Monster and lay crumpled on the warning track for a few minutes, like a discarded rag doll. But he soon got up and tested himself, finding he could play.

"Lynn hit himself on the tailbone and it sure will be sore tomorrow," said Boston trainer Charles Moss. "Fortunately there is some tin on the wall where he hit himself and that may have cushioned the shock."

Bears' Title Hopes Ride With Defense

St. Joseph hasn't been any ball of fire this season, especially on offense, but impressive defensive performances the past two weeks have ignited new championship talk in the Bear camp.

St. Joe, the champ the past two seasons, hopes to earn a share of the title by beating Portage Central at Dickinson Stadium Friday night and Holland on the road next week.

But the Bears, who trail by a game in the Big Seven standings, will need help. Holland would have to knock off Battle Creek Lakeview this Friday, and Loy Norrix would have to topple Portage Northern next week.

Northern is now 4-1 in the league while Lakeview stands at 3-1; St. Joseph 2-2 and Holland 2-2.

"The odds aren't with us," admits St. Joseph coach Ike Muhlenkamp, "but I think we can do it."

St. Joe, now 3-3 overall, will be counting on a defense which has allowed just one touchdown the last two games to keep championship hopes glowing in Friday night's homecoming battle.

"We've been playing with excitement," says Muhlenkamp of the defense. "We think we've got a real good forcing unit up there. We're quick and cover up for lack of size, we can pursue and get to the play and we tackle pretty good."

Up in the front trenches are ends Mark Loukas and Jeff

Johnson, tackles Jeff Schmal and Steve Toney, middle guard John Donahue and linebackers Dick Goodman and Rick Dyer.

Loukas was the player of the week in last Friday's win over Portage Northern while throwing Huskie runners for losses six times. "He played very, very good all the way," declares Muhlenkamp. "He was super."

Another St. Joe defender, monster man Jimmy Burkett, got the game breaker award for causing a Northern fumble which led to the third Bear TD. "He really rapped him," recalls the Bear mentor on the effort of his 140-pound mighty mite.

Main targets of the St. Joe defense Friday night will be Portage Central quarterback Greg Gobben, who runs the option and also passes well, and hard-running 195-pound fullback Don Yovanovich, who was injured last week and is doubtful for Friday.

Central is 1-5 overall this year and 1-3 in the conference, and based on scores against four common opponents, the Mustangs will be a two touchdown underdog Friday.

St. Joe clobbered Central 49-22 last fall and holds a 9-1 edge in the series. The Bears have scored at least three touchdowns in each of the last seven games.

But Muhlenkamp looks at the Mustangs with caution. "Central has played very good football," he says, "but they are spotty at times. They make mistakes that cost them."

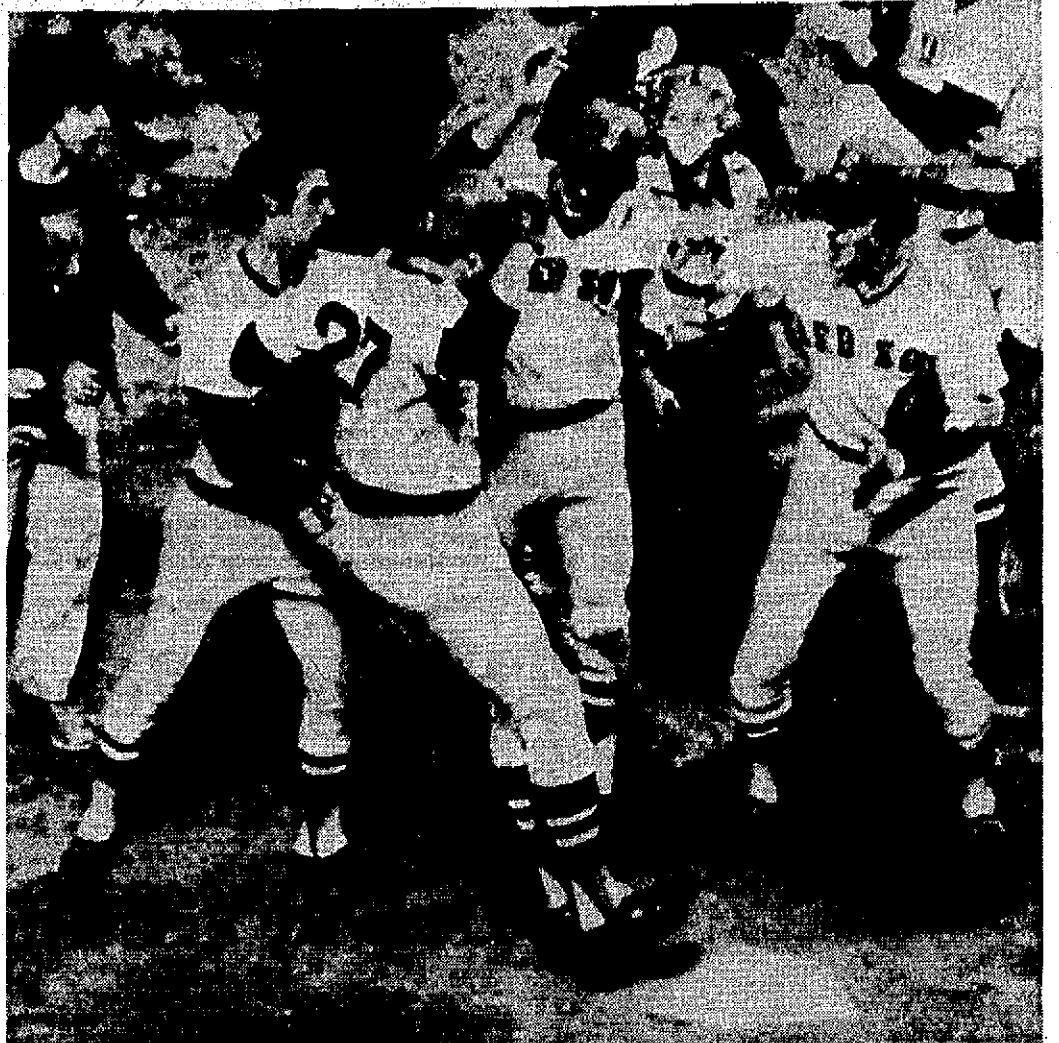

St. Joe's offense has also sputtered while averaging less than two touchdowns per game, but Muhlenkamp says "we think we can move the football now."

Fullback Scott Wolf is averaging 4.6 yards per carry, quarterback Dave Ziebart has hit on 30 passes for 448 yards and split end Ted Dongillo has 17 receptions for 273 yards.

Leading the offensive line last Friday as the player of the week was center Glenn Averill.

Devine Comments On Firing Talk

Dan Knows Rumor Motive

'CHICAGO (AP) — Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine says he knows where the rumor started about him being fired. "And I know the motive," Devine said, "but that's all the comment I'm going to make."

Notre Dame officials have labeled rumors vicious and malicious that Devine would be replaced by former Coach Ara Parseghian for the rest of the season and that Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins would become the Notre Dame coach in 1976.

Parseghian has denied categorically the whole thing. Devine, who has to prepare the team for Saturday's nationally televised game against third-ranked Southern California, told Chicago Football Writers in a telephone interview that the rumors apparently haven't "affected the squad."

Myself? That's not important. Not me...but my family."

Devine had another statement to worry about Tuesday. "I have never been so insulted in my life," Devine said about a newspaper story quoting one of his players as saying Devine treats guys who don't play as second class.

The story appeared in the Tuesday edition of the Chicago Tribune, and dealt with rumors of Devine being fired.

According to the story, the unnamed player said: "And some of us think he treats guys who don't play as second class."

"I have taken great pains and great pride in 28 years of coaching as to the welfare of all my players," Devine said. "There are thousands of players whom I coached who would refute that statement. It is the biggest shock I have had in my 28 years as a coach."

"I wish I knew who the player was," added Devine. "Not to kick him off the team or anything like that, but just to talk to him."

Devine said he was determined not "to let rumors take away from those two great comeback victories against North Carolina and Air Force."

"Moose Krause (Notre Dame athletic director) called the comeback against North Carolina the greatest in Notre Dame history and the one against Air Force the greatest in collegiate history," Devine said.

The Irish scored three touchdowns in the final quarter against North Carolina for a 21-14 victory and then scored three more in the final quarter to defeat Air Force 31-30 last Saturday.

Devine, however, does not want to face the same circumstances against Southern Cal Saturday.

"I'm not that naive to think we can do the same thing and overpower Southern California," said Devine. "I do hope it turns out to be a high-scoring game because I have a feeling they will score on us. If I had a ticket to the game, I wouldn't give it away."

Meanwhile, Parseghian says he will decide by the first of the year whether to resume his career as a football coach, but closed the door on a future college contract.

"I will not return to the college game," he told the Knoxville Quarterback Club, adding, "I'll decide by the first of the year."

Bobcats Down Lancer Runners

Lakeshore's Mike Mead took first with a course record 16:12 effort, but Lancer runners lost to Brandywine 26-30 Tuesday.

Lakeshore's Russ Shank was second in the Blossomland meet on the Lancer course, but the next four spots went to Brandywine's Joe Kazhoris, Mark Cummings, Mike Smith and Jim Morrow.

But in junior high action, Lakeshore won 25-32 with Brad Krugler placing first.

Coloma, which could be looking ahead to its game the following Friday with Downagiac, will be missing Rich Scherer, offensive end and defensive rover, with an arm injury.

The Rangers, who face a "must" win situation, will have to contain the Chiefs' Doug Mitchell, who rushed for 286 yards and four touchdowns against Buchanan last Friday.

Lynn Tops AP All-Stars

Bench, Jackson Only Repeaters From 1974

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Lynn displayed his skills on national television Tuesday night, slamming a three-run homer and crashing into the center field wall in a futile effort to catch Ken Griffey's triple.

It was typical of the Boston rookie center fielder's season, and a prime reason he was the top vote-getter on The Associated Press' 1975 Major League All-Star team.

Marcellus Wins

LAWRENCE — Alison Szeide hit a pair of free throws with 30 seconds left to lead Marcellus to a 35-33 win over Lawrence in girls basketball played here Tuesday night.

The Wildcats' Karen Ringle led all scorers with 13 points while teammate Vicki Perry added 10. Lawrence got eight points from Jeri Glista.

are Greg Luzinski of the Philadelphia Phillies and Reggie Jackson of the Oakland A's.

Lynn was the only rookie to make the squad, while Jackson and catcher Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds were the only repeaters from the 1974 team.

Others picked by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters were first baseman George Scott of the Milwaukee Brewers, second baseman Joe Morgan of Cincinnati, third baseman Bill Madlock of the Chicago Cubs and third baseman Larry Bowa of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres was named the team's left-handed pitcher and Baltimore's Jim Palmer grabbed the right-handed pitching spot.

Lynn led the American League in runs scored with 103, doubles with 47 and slugging percentage with .506. He batted .331, second highest in the AL, and was third in the league in runs batted in with 105, polling 389 votes. The closest to the Boston freshman was Morgan, who received 320 votes.

Luzinski was the National League's RBI champion, knocking in 121 runs while slugging 34 homers. The other outfielder, Reggie Jackson, was the American League's co-home run champion with Scott. Both walloped 36 roundtrippers.

Bench easily captured the catching spot, getting 265 votes to 87 for runner-up Ted Simmons of the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cincinnati catcher was second to Luzinski in RBIs in the NL with 110.

Palmer outdueled Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, 179 votes to 157, for one of the pitching spots. Jones polled 163 votes to beat out Vida Blue of Oakland, who finished with 103.

Bowa had the second closest fight, beating out Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati 165-134. Bowa batted .305 and scored 79 runs.

Scott also paced the AL in total bases with 318 and in RBIs with 108. Jackson was second in the junior circuit in doubles with 39, third in total bases and fourth in RBIs. Steve Garvey of Los Angeles, National League's Most Valuable Player in 1974, was runner-up to Scott at first base, some 49 votes behind.

Madlock won the NL batting title with .354 and finished far ahead of Cincinnati's Pete Rose, 320 votes to 93. Morgan, who crushed Rod Carew, the major's leading hitter, 320 to 98 in the balloting, was fourth in the NL in hitting with .327, third in runs scored with 107 and second in stolen bases with 88.

Palmer, 23-11, and Jones, 20-12, posted the lowest earned run averages in their respective leagues among starting pitchers. Palmer threw 10 shutouts while coming up with an ERA of 2.09. Jones had a 2.24 ERA.

7-1 Win Puts Canadiens In First Place

Penguins' Streak Snapped

From Associated Press
The Montreal Canadiens dropped the Pittsburgh Penguins from the unbeaten ranks of the National Hockey League Tuesday night — and it was quite a crusher.

Pete Mahovlich and Guy Lafleur each scored two goals in powering the Canadiens to a 7-1 triumph at Pittsburgh, ending the Penguins' victory string at four. The victory pushed Montreal, 4-1-1, into first place in the Norris Division of the Wales Conference.

"I believe this is the best game we have played all season," said Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman.

In other NHL games, St. Louis routed Los Angeles 6-1 and Vancouver and the New York Islanders played a 5-5 tie.

In the World Hockey Association, Winnipeg routed Cincinnati 7-0, Quebec topped New England 6-1, and Minnesota edged Indianapolis 2-1.

Montreal goalie Ken Dryden, who faced 27 shots, most from long range, said: "This is one of the quietest nights in goals I've ever had in Pittsburgh." Guy Lapointe, Steve Shutt and Yvon Lambert also scored for Montreal.

Garry Unger scored twice — his fifth and sixth goals of the campaign — and Yves Belanger was a standout in the St. Louis goal against Los Angeles. Bob MacMillan, Brian Ogilvie, Wayne Merrick and Chuck Lesley also tallied for the Blues.

Don Lever's goal with 1:31 left earned Vancouver its tie. New York had gone ahead 5-4 earlier in the third period on Denis Potvin's second goal of the night. Clark Gillies of New York and rookie Rick Blight of Vancouver each bagged two goals.

Joe Daley registered his second shutout of the season for Winnipeg, which got two goals from Anders Hedberg, last year's WHA Rookie of the Year. The Jets jumped to a 4-0 first period lead over Cincinnati — three coming on power play goals.

Quebec's Rejean Houle scored his fourth goal of season and set up two others against New England. Dale Hoganson, Renald Leclerc, Michel Parizeau, Tom Serviss and Marc Tardiff also scored for the Nordiques.

Jack Carlson's third-period goal gave Minnesota its victory and dealt Indianapolis its fifth straight setback, its first under new Coach Jacques Demers. Dave Keon scored Minnesota's other goal while Pat Stapleton connected for the Racers.

SJ Girls Win 12th

BATTLE CREEK — The St. Joseph girls raised their basketball record to 12-0 with a 64-41 win over Battle Creek Lakeview here Tuesday.

Kay Stickney led the win with 25 points while Ann Ryan added 13 points. Ryan, Andy Gast and Sue Griswold all had eight rebounds.

St. Joe, which took quarter leads of 18-5, 28-20 and 45-26, shot 40 per cent from the field, marking the fourth straight game the Bears have shot 40 per cent or better.

The Bears, now 7-0 in Big Seven play, will host Benton Harbor Thursday with the jayvee game starting at 8:30 p.m.

The St. Joe jayvees also won Tuesday, 44-28. Kate Bartz sank 14 points and Laura Pries 12 for the winners, now 8-4.

RV Harriers Crunch Coloma

THREE OAKS — Denny Zebell, Keith Hall, Steve Copeland and Mark Peterson all crossed the finish line in 17:24 to pace River Valley to a 16-47 cross country win over Coloma here Tuesday.

SJ Runners Beat Niles

St. Joseph closed out an 8-3 cross country dual season by downing Niles 18-40 in a Big Seven meet Tuesday on the Riverview course.

St. Joe's Tim Dine was first in 15:54, with teammate Joe Palazzolo following, Niles' Brad Dahl was third, but St. Joe got the next three places with Jeff Callender, Steve Hudson and Henry Follman.

"We ran one of our better groupings in the past three weeks," commented Bear coach Ron Waldvogel. "If we can run this effectively Saturday (Class A regional) we've got a good chance to make it into the state finals."

Pan Am Basketball Game 'Honor Question' For U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "We're definitely here to win the gold medal and to regain our morale. Therefore beating Cuba is a question of honor," said United States men's basketball assistant coach Jud Heathcote.

The question of honor was to be decided tonight in one of the feature attractions of the VII Pan American Games: the Americans vs. the Cubans in basketball. A victory would all but automatically give the U.S. a gold medal in the sport at these quadrennial Western Hemisphere games — a certain morale booster.

The U.S. prestige in basketball has dropped in recent years with defeats in the 1971 Pan Am Games, the 1972 Olympics, and last year's world championships.

A handful of important finals were scheduled today in other sports here, including swimming where the U.S. teams continue to rewrite the Pan Am record books. But the pivotal basketball game had the spotlight.

"We still have a chance to win the gold medal if we lose to the Cubans," Heathcote said. "They've lost to Puerto Rico and may still lose to Brazil."

Heathcote expressed hope there would be no violence, as in some Cuba-U.S. encounters here, notably in water polo where three Americans were injured.

Going into tonight's swimming finals, the U.S. team has rebuffed its critics effectively, not only winning most everything in sight but also tearing up the Games' record book in the process.

With the help of a U.S. sweep in swimming events Tuesday and five gold medals from the American wrestlers, the U.S. gold-silver-bronze total bulged to 70-55-33 with 38-33-21 for runnerup Cuba. Other leading nations were Canada 15-25-27, Mexico 6-8-22 and Brazil 6-7-13.

The American swimmers not only won all of Tuesday's golds, but also set records in each event and added either a silver or a bronze in each.

Doug Northbrook, Tucson, Ariz., 4:00.51 in the men's 400-meter freestyle, almost nine seconds better than the old record;

Kathy Heddy, Summit, N.J., who won her second gold with a 5:06.05 in the women's 400-meter individual medley;

Rick Colella, Seattle, Wash., 2:24.00 in the men's 200-meter backstroke;

Dan Harrigan, Mishawaka, Ind., with a 2:06.88 in the men's 200-meter backstroke;

Camille Wright, New Albany, Ind., with 1:03.71 in the 100-meter women's butterfly;

Greg Jacenburg, West Chester, Pa., with 2:03.42 in the men's 200-meter butterfly.

In wrestling Tuesday night, the U.S. took gold medals in five weight classifications, silvers in three and bronze in the other two.

Gold medal winners and their weight classifications: Lloyd Kaeser, Annapolis, Md., 150 lbs.; Greg Hicks, Santa Ana, Calif., 181 lbs.; Ben Peterson, Comstock, Wis., 198 lbs.; Russell Hellickson, Oregon, Wis., 220 lbs.; Michael McReady, Dubuque, Iowa, over 230 lbs.

Michigan has five running backs who can play any time without much loss in quality, Schenbecker said: Bell, Lytle, Huckleby, freshman fullback Russ Davis and sophomore fullback Scott Corbin.

He said Huckleby "is strong, breaks tackles, has speed, can make cuts. He's tough."

But, he cautioned — as he often does when speaking about freshmen — "Let's don't get carried away with him. Let's let him earn the rank. We'll give him the opportunity."

Huckleby is a 6-foot-1½, 195-pounder from Detroit Cass Tech. He ran for 21 touchdowns in high school last year. In track he set a world age group record at 15 of 21.5 seconds in the 220 dash. He ran a 9.5 hundred. Huckleby was the state prep track champ in the 100 and 220.

An excellent student, Huckleby plans to enter labor and industrial relations studies at Michigan.

Tom Seabron, a teammate of Huckleby at Cass, also plays for Michigan. He moved into the No. 2 spot at defensive tackle for the Northwestern game and in the last 33 seconds stripped the ball from the Wildcat quarterback and ran 40 yards for a touchdown.

Seabron, 6-4, 210, has run a 9.8 hundred and 21.4 in the 220.

Grid Comparisons Starting Up

CHICAGO (AP) — It's that time of the season when comparisons pop up on the college football scene, especially with the upcoming Southern Cal-Notre Dame game Saturday.

Then there's the inevitable matchup of Ohio State and Michigan, and what about Southern California's Ricky Bell compared with Anthony Davis, O. J. Simpson and Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin of Ohio State?

Through phone interviews at the Chicago Football Writers' meeting Tuesday, coaches Alex Agase of Purdue, John Jardine of Wisconsin, John McKay of Southern California and Dan Devine of Notre Dame expressed their views.

Agase, whose Boilermakers lost to Notre Dame 17-0 and Southern California 19-6 and face top-ranked Ohio State this Saturday, gives Ohio State the nod among the three.

As for the Southern Cal-Notre Dame game Saturday, Agase said, "I feel Notre Dame can play with anyone in the country defensively if everyone is healthy. Southern Cal also is a good defensive team and on offense Ricky Bell could make the difference. Southern Cal has more speed overall, especially on the punt return team."

"Southern Cal hasn't been that impressive so far and it could be because they haven't played a big game yet," said Agase. "This could be it."

Jardine, whose Badgers lost in Michigan 23-6 in the season opener and then were overwhelmed by Ohio State 56-0 last Saturday, said, "Ohio State is stronger and more diversified. But, remember, we played Michigan in the first game of the season when teams are apt not to do as well. Michigan's performance last week (69-0 over Northwestern) speaks for itself."

Devine, who is preparing the Irish for Southern Cal Saturday, was asked to compare Bell with Anthony Davis, the running star in USC's stunning comeback victory over Notre Dame last season.

"Bell is on par with any running back they have ever had except for O. J. Simpson," said Devine. "O. J. was the best I've ever seen."

McKay, who is totally unimpressed with his Trojans, believes Bell is a worthy candidate for the Heisman Trophy.

Thirty-One Officers Enrolled

Thirty-one area police officers currently are enrolled in Lake Michigan college's ninth basic police academy and are in the last quarter of the seven-week training program.

Certified recruit basic training became mandatory in Michigan in 1971, and LMC's Law Enforcement and Public Safety department has conducted two basic police recruit schools annually since that year.

This semester's police recruit trainees come from law enforcement agencies from Bangor to Niles and from Dowagiac to South Haven. Present recruits and their agencies include: Dennis R. King, Bangor police department; Robert L. Clemmons and William D. Kronbitter, Benton Harbor police department; Thomas J. Street and Scott L. Long, Jr., Benton township police department; and Michael L. Frazier, Deans H. Jones, and Gary L. Ruhl, Berrien county sheriff's department.

Also enrolled are Gordon J. Berndt, Bridgman police department; John H. Leich and Larry E. Pitchford, Buchanan police department; Jennifer A.

Bradley, Howard A. Clement, Daniel H. Covey, Philip J. Makay, James M. Ralston, and Sharon L. Walterhouse, Cass county sheriff's department; Bobby S. Daniel, Chikaming

St. Joe Man Given Fine, Probation

A St. Joseph man Tuesday was sentenced in Berrien Circuit court to two years' probation and a fine and costs of $300 for receiving and concealing stolen property valued in excess of $100.

Sentenced by Circuit Judge Julian H. Hughes was Dale A. Binaz, 25, of 310 Wayne street. Binaz earlier had pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving and concealing a stolen 12-channel FM amateur transceiver June 19 in a parking area near the corner of Church and Pearl streets in St. Joseph.

The offense is punishable by a maximum sentence of five years in prison and $2,500 fine.

Kavanagh To Be Keynote Speaker

SOUTH HAVEN — Thomas Kavanagh, chief justice of the Michigan Supreme court, will be the keynote speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Greater South Haven Area Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, Oct. 29 at Fidehman's Mai Kai.

All Chamber members and spouses as well as members of South Haven area civic organizations have been invited to attend. Members of the Van Buren county bar association have also been invited.

A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. and dinner served at 8 p.m. Dinner will be $7 per person.

Reservations should be made with the chamber office by Oct. 27.

Big Lake Level Is Topic Friday

Robert L. Gregory, assistant chief of the Great Lakes Hydraulics and Hydrology branch of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Lake Shore Property Owners association at 8 p.m. Friday.

Gregory will speak on further regulation of Great Lakes water levels and different methods for lake level control. Mrs. Donna Asselin, association chairman, of 2826 South Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph, said the meeting is important because high water levels are the basic problem for shore owners and proposals to solve the problem will be discussed.

The meeting will be held at the Harbert Community church, corner of Three Oaks and Harbert roads, Chikaming township.

'Monopoly' Takeoff Game For Wealthy

It's all just a game called Petropolis, an admitted takeoff on Monopoly created by a French baron for the rich, fashionable, famous or powerful.

Anyone can play the game. It's just that the only sets now around sell for $195 and $790. A $20,000 set, with 18-karat gold rigs and derricks, will soon be unveiled. If you can make it through the winter season, a version for $25 or less is supposed to be on the market by spring.

Promoters sent the heads of state of oil-producing countries the first 30 copies of the $790 set, which are done in leather and gold and silver plate and include a calculator.

Other sets went to chiefs of Barun Arnaud de Rosnay, a jet-setter who tried journalism, photography and designing expensive backgammon sets before thinking up Petropolis one January day in Beirut.

King Hussein of Jordan has ordered 20 of the $790 sets for Christmas gifts, according to Philippe Bigar, who is helping the baron launch the game at Saks Fifth Avenue's main New York store.

Jordan doesn't export oil, so it isn't one of the 27 countries sprinkled over the playing board of Petropolis, which makes other games look like penny poker. Each player starts with $2 million and some property, then proceeds to acquire other property and develop it.

"The currency of Petropolis is the petrodollar, issued not on the U.S. Treasury but the World Bank and bearing the motto 'In Oil We Trust.'"

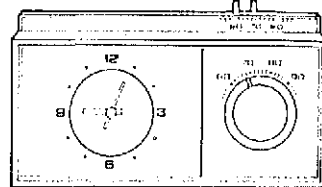

Saudi Arabia and Iran are the Boardwalk and Park Place of this game. Buy their production rights, load them up with oil rigs or derricks, and you can drive your opponents to bankruptcy. Hold out your hand and demand $200,000 when one of them lands on Saudi Arabia, or $2 million once you get the rigs set up.

Along the way, your luck will also be influenced by Telex messages from around the world — Remember Chance and Community Chest?

Lawton Schools Budget Hearing Is Nov. 4

LAWTON — A public hearing on Lawton school board's proposed balanced budget of $1,361,669 for the 1975-76 school year has been scheduled for Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Supt. George Dannecker said the proposed budget represents a 13.3 per cent increase over last year's budget of $1,200,581. The proposed budget was reviewed by the school board at its regular meeting Monday night.

Dannecker said the proposed budget reflects additional costs being incurred by the district and includes repayment of a $100,000 note recently borrowed against anticipated collection of state aid.

Expected revenues include $613,404 from local sources, $262,935 from state aid and the remainder from federal and other miscellaneous sources.

The Nov. 3 millage election which seeks an additional 1.5 mills for school operations would bring in an additional $56,520 in local revenue and state aid if approved, according to Dannecker. He said the additional money would be put into a contingency fund as teacher negotiations are continuing and a new contract has not been settled.

The proposed budget was based on last year's teacher salaries, according to Dannecker. The proposed budget listed all teacher's salaries at $338,969 and administrators salaries at $58,068.

In other areas during the regular meeting, the board set tuition rates for out-of-district students at $441 for secondary students and $393 for elementary students. Lawton had no tuition students last year.

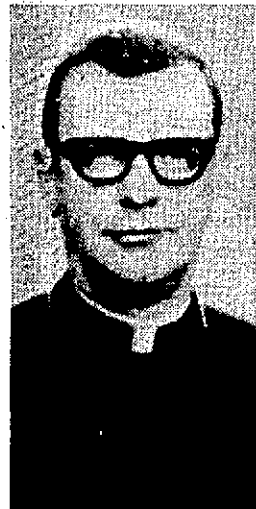

The board was informed by Lawton fire department officials that in their opinion there's inadequate fire protection at the high school. Fire officials said the only on-site water is a well that has an electric pump. The school is too far away from village main lines to provide adequate pressure, fire officials said.

Dannecker said the high school has an automatic sprinkling system, with a 3,000 gallon water reserve in the well. He said the school was designed to meet minimum requirements set by the state fire marshal.

It was suggested by Lawton fire officials that an additional well be constructed to provide 1,000 gallons a minute output. They said such a well would cost between $12,000 and $15,000.

Board members Richard Haynor and David Stephane were appointed to meet with local fire officials to discuss the situation and possible solutions.

The athletic boosters reported a $3,700 balance for the month of September, with all but coach salaries being paid.

By and large the animals in our neighborhood seem to get along quite well with each other — a fact that almost got Shamus, the Himalayan monarch of our household, devoured by a German shepherd.

Shamus and his feline consort Mariah are 9 going on 10, and like the rest of us middle-aged types not as quick as they once were. Mariah may have learned Zen exercises from our daughter and thus retained her delicate figure; Shamus has become a bit portly. However, the real source of his trouble was taking the non-aggression threat that has been in force for years as a permanent arrangement.

At times it almost resembled Edward Hicks' Famous primitive, "The Peaceable Kingdom," which featured the lion, the lamb and other animals engaged in what appears to be a Quaker meeting. A former neighbor, for example, had a horse who lived in a paddock on our boundary, and on a number of occasions I have seen Shamus and Mariah sitting on the top rail apparently deep in conversation with their equine friend. Other cats drop by to exchange long, low growls, but to our knowledge neither of our cats has ever been in a fight.

The dogs around have been most civil. True, some years ago there was a collie who came by and pestered them, but they were young and agile and whipped up trees. (The collie also chased cars, which was his undoing.) Then there is a Newfoundland who stops in now and then, but she seems to be in the category with horses and is greeted with friendly reserve. There is a nice husky, but he specializes in collecting morning papers (which the children in the family promptly return — it's quite a drill) and otherwise minds his own business.

Shamus, in other words, had no reason to expect a Pearl Harbor as he went out on the warm front steps to snooze in the sun. It was a lovely Indian summer afternoon, and fortunately I had the front door open. Suddenly I heard a flurry out front, Shamus hissing, and a savage bark. I rushed to the door, and there was a German shepherd about to close his jaws on our Shamus, whom he had cut off from the nearest tree. I let out a bellow that almost broke the windows in the town hall three miles off; the startled dog looked up, and Shamus made it up a pine tree. The dog vanished down the street.

Now I want to make it clear that I have nothing against dogs as long as they behave themselves, but I was infuriated at this attempted catslaughter. Calling the town dog officer brought me to my senses; I had forgotten that cats have no rights. Some 15 years ago our cat Patches was badly chewed up by a dog — when I called the city dog officer I was told that, to paraphrase, every dog had one cat on the house; that is, only after a second canine offense could he move against a dog's owner. The dog officer here was cooperative but he explained that the dog had first to be identified. Since we have no leash law, dogs are free to roam.

Frankly, the thought had not occurred to me to grab that big ferocious animal by the collar and write down his registration number. The officer went on to explain the details of due process of law for an accused dog. Without going into the whole business, suffice it to say that a dog has more procedural rights than a bank robber. You practically have to have a motion picture of his aggression to warrant a conviction.

We can joke about it now, but the fact is that a member of our family whom we love dearly was almost killed. I don't like to cage dogs up. But what do you do about the killer like the nut who years ago knocked our daughter off her bike into the path of an oncoming car — it stopped with inches to spare — or the one who tried to take out Shamus?

Regrettably, I think the only answer is a leash law: better 99 innocent dogs should be restrained than one be loose to hurt a child or someone else's cherished pet.

Trial Court Next For Hartford Man In Shooting Case

PAW PAW — A Hartford man was bound over to Van Buren circuit court yesterday following a Seventh district court preliminary examination on two counts of felonious assault. Freddie Wayne Sammons, 26, 59½ street, Hartford, is charged with shooting Angelo Garcia, 19, and Jacob Jaramillo, 24, with a .22-caliber rifle at their room at the Royal motel west of Hartford on Oct. 11.

Jaramillo sought his own treatment for a flesh wound, and Garcia was released yesterday from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, a hospital spokesman said.

Police said the disturbance centered around money Sammons had lent to a 19-year-old woman friend of the two men.

In other cases, Alice F. Cross, 27, 1242 Columbus, Benton Harbor, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver.

Police said the Cross woman

BH Faculty Does Study Of 'A, B, Cs'

Benton Harbor elementary school teachers are studying their "A,B,Cs" this week in an effort to improve the district's reading program.

The ABC reading program is Benton Harbor schools' basic curriculum for reading, and 208 teachers are reviewing their experiences with it and watching filmed presentations of the program as demonstrated by Sterne Brunson teacher Dorothy Jones and her fifth graders.

The training sessions for teachers means that each elementary school, except kindergarten and preschool classes, is being dismissed for a half-day this week on a rotating basis.

Harry Stephens, acting assistant superintendent for elementary education, said: "Reading continues to be the most important part of the curriculum in Benton Harbor schools. We are certain that programs like these will help our teachers improve their skills, which they will carry back to the classroom to help every Benton Harbor student."

Five Twin Cities Crashes Hospitalize 3; Injure 7

Three people were hospitalized and seven others sustained apparently minor injuries in five traffic accidents Tuesday. Twin Cities area police reported.

Berrien sheriff's deputy Fred Schaub said a two-car collision Tuesday at the intersection of M-140 and Napier avenue, Bainbridge township, injured four persons.

Ann J. Pennington, 49, a passenger in the car driven by her husband, and Ellis Meeks, 56, a passenger in the same car, were admitted to Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, after the 11 a.m. accident. Mrs. Pennington was listed in "serious" condition with a broken leg, nose and ribs. Meeks was listed in "stable" condition with multiple cuts.

The driver, Arthur Sherman Pennington, 47, was treated and released. All are from Freeport, Fla., Schaub said.

Driver of the other car, Leo Paul Bolter, 52, of 527 Hickory street, Niles, was treated and released from Memorial. Bolter said he was ticketed for disregarding a stop sign.

Problems and new responsibilities face volunteer organizations operating under the new state charity solicitation act, Dean Lidgard, president of the board of directors of the state Easter Seal society, said last night.

Lidgard addressed the annual membership meeting of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Berrien county in the Margaret Upton center, St. Joseph.

The new state solicitation act went into effect Oct. 15. Lidgard said there is no argument among volunteer service agencies with the intent of the law. But he said there will be many problems in its execution.

The original bill contained one paragraph on intent and four pages on procedure, he said. These four pages have multiplied into 34 pages of rules and regulations as written by the attorney general's office, Lidgard noted.

The law requires 70 per cent of funds be spent on programs but state regulations will eat up more than the remaining 30 per cent, he said. Lidgard cited cost of filing reports and identification cards for solicitors.

Lidgard said the nation is moving toward a total welfare state and cited the expansion of social services. He asked, what will be the role of the volunteer organization? He noted, however, volunteer agencies have raised $25 billion nationwide for research and programs and said it would be difficult to determine how much more it would have cost to have the government attempt to do the same thing.

The members of the society approved a resolution honoring the late Margaret B. Upton, who had served the society for 28 years as a member of the board of directors. Mrs. Upton provided, with her husband, Frederick S. Upton, the society's headquarters at 2015 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph.

Mrs. Ralph Newland, a friend of Mrs. Upton for many years, gave the tribute and read the resolution to Mrs. Upton.

Mrs. Nellie Miller, R.N., executive director since Sept. 16, 1957, will retire March 15, 1976. Mrs. D. H. Stamm, past president, presented Mrs. Miller with a plaque.

The annual report showed 318 people served with a majority, 186, in the 15 and under age category. The report also showed an increase in services, especially in the adult recreation program, clinics and physical therapy services.

Directors elected included

Jeffrey S. Butzbach, David H. Mack, Mrs. James A. Stancik, Stevensville; Mrs. Cornelius A. Johnson, Bridgman; Mrs. Edwin Mendel, Benton Harbor; Mrs. Stamm, Watervliet; James A. Sullivan, St. Joseph; and Mrs. Gerald Weiman, Berrien Springs.

Officers elected included, Butzbach, president; John V. Stafford, St. Joseph, first vice president; Richard F. Koch, St. Joseph, second vice president; Sullivan, treasurer; and Mrs. Stancik, secretary.

RETIRING: Mrs. Nellie Miller, executive director of Easter Seal Society of Berrien county for 18 years, announced at annual meeting Tuesday she will retire next March. She is shown with Dean Lidgard (center), president of State Easter Seal Society, and Jeffrey S. Butzbach, president of Berrien chapter. Portrait, which will hang in society headquarters on Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph, is of the late Margaret B. Upton who with her husband, Frederick S., donated building to Berrien chapter. Migrant Decline Reflected In South Haven Enrollment

By TOM RENNER South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Enrollment in the South Haven school system has decreased 51 students from last year even though the head count at L. C. Mohr high school is the highest ever, Supt. Harold Gaarde reported to the board of education last night.

Enrollment on the fourth Friday of the school year was 3,378 students compared to 3,429 for 1974-75. The enrollment is the lowest since 1968-69.

Enrollment by grade levels with last year's in parentheses are: elementary 1,730 (1,810), junior high 541 (568) and senior high 1,107 (1,050).

Gaarde noted that part of the reason for the decline is fewer migrant families in the South Haven area this fall. He also reported that enrollment in the South Haven system has remained fairly stable, fluctuating only three per cent during the last nine years.

In other matters, the board was informed by the state highway department that it has again denied a request for a stop-and-go signal on Broadway avenue near the Central school.

E. H. Miller, district traffic engineer for the state agency, noted that the principal problem in the area is that of pedestrians rather than vehicles.

"No stop-and-go signal could provide the assurance of safety in these crossings," Miller wrote in a letter to city manager Albert Pierce.

Miller again recommended that local officials consider having a pedestrian overpass constructed over Broadway. His previous recommendation was rejected by city officials for reasons of expense, appearance and potential hazards.

Gaarde was instructed by the school board to meet with city officials to discuss remedies to the problem.

The board approved a change in wording in the maternity leave section of the master agreement with its teaching staff so as to comply with federal Title IX regulations.

The board reviewed goals it had established for itself in 1973 and announced new goals for the current school year.

Board members noted progress was made in meeting the '73 goals, which included improving the plant and educational program at the junior high, developing a plan of evaluation for teachers and administrators, revising the curriculum throughout the system, promoting the approval of two millage elections and supporting the concept of public utilization of school facilities through establishment of the community recreation-education program.

Among new goals established by the board are improving public relations, a continued upgrading of physical facilities, expanding the teacher and administrator evaluation program, enforcing disciplinary policies and continued development of instructional accountability.

"The goals and objectives of a school board become a reality only through the cooperation of administrators, teachers and the community," a written summary noted.

The board received a cost evaluation of its high school interscholastic sports program which noted that the net cost per participant in the sports program last year was $81.53.

The evaluation showed that 32.5 per cent of the high school's 1,050 students participated in interscholastic sports last year and that the cost for the program was 2.7 per cent of the total high school budget. Total cost was placed at $28,335 while income from admissions was $20,672.

The board accepted the high bids of the Church of Christ of South Haven ($825) and the First Freewill Baptist Church of South Haven ($851) to purchase two used school buses.

The low $1,951 bid of Westcott Trenching of Bangor to install an improved drainage system at Maple Grove school was approved.

Gaarde was authorized to borrow up to $250,000 against anticipated state aid. Gaarde said he was in the process of obtaining bids for the lowest loan rate.

The board accepted the resignation of Dean Bishop as a fifth grade teacher and appointed Mrs. Joan Kelly to the position.

The board received a written statement of the responsibilities, services and function of the high school counseling department. It is the first time the responsibilities have been committed to writing, according to Gaarde.

He reported that the net sound value of buildings and equipment in the system increased 4.5 per cent from a year ago to $9,749,358.

LMC Talk Traces Famed Slaying Case

Milton Helpen, M.D., related a history of unusual murder cases and other deaths he has encountered in his career as a New York City medical examiner in an address last night to the Berrien County Medical society at Lake Michigan college.

Dr. Helpen, now retired, focused most of his talk on the celebrated Dr. Carl Coppolino murder trial in which he took part in conducting a delayed autopsy and determining the cause of death — poisoning.

Dr. Helpen was called in as an expert to testify in the Florida trial case. Dr. Coppolino, who was represented by F. Lee Bailey, was eventually convicted of second degree murder the slaying of his wife.

Dr. Helpen, however, told the county medical society that a medical examiner's role was "not to be interested in verdicts, but in coming up with an accurate determination of the cause of death."

Members of the bar and law enforcement officials also attended the meeting.

Two Bound Over On Drug Charges In Berrien Court

By NICK SMITH Staff Writer

Two people arrested in a drug raid last month were bound over to circuit court following preliminary examinations in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday. Also Tuesday another person was bound over to circuit court, one demanded examination and 10 were sentenced.

Bound over were:

Sharon A. Ochampaugh, 22, of M-140, Watervliet, on charges of delivery of cocaine and marijuana, both second offenses, in Watervliet township in August. She was freed on bonds totaling $3,000.

Theodore S. Smith, 25, of 3692 Ohio street, Coloma, on a charge of delivery of marijuana in Watervliet Aug. 28. He was freed on $2,000 bail.

Reynaldo Cadena, 27, of Laredo, Texas, accused of car theft Oct. 11 in Eau Claire. Bond of $1,000 was not met and he was returned to the county jail.

Demanding preliminary examination was Ronald M. Williams, 31, of 481 Territorial, Benton Harbor, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, a pistol, against Perry Hadley Oct. 20 in Benton Harbor. He was jailed in lieu of $3,000 bail.

Sentenced were: Christopher H. Reimers, 25, of 1949 Brown School road, St. Joseph township, fine and costs of $175, three months probation and restitution of doctor bills for assault and battery against William D. Rohm July 18 in St. Joseph township.

Jeffery A. Leighty, 17, of 1880 Wood street, Benton Heights, $43 for shooting ducks after 7 p.m., end of the shooting day, Oct. 11 in Benton township.

Charles E. Patterson, 20, of Edwards road, Eau Claire, $101 for receiving and concealing stolen property valued under $100, a television, Sept. 26 in Benton township.

Jesus Diaz, 38, of St. Joseph, $120, and Brian K. Richmond, 17, of 873 Monroe, Benton Harbor, five days in jail, each for petty larceny.

Mary P. Graham, 48, of Millburg drive, Benton township, $100 for attempted petty larceny April 19 at Benton Harbor K-Mart.

Robert E. Sprague, 26, of Sawyer, $150 and six months probation for impaired driving Oct. 21 in Three Oaks.

Jeffery A. Williams, 20, of 351 Crystal, Benton township, $101 and six months probation for use of marijuana. Vernon S. Anderson, 52, of 364 August, Benton Harbor, $151 and three months probation for driving while intoxicated Oct. 20 in Benton Harbor.

Terry Lee Langford, 27, of Milwaukee, Wis., $200 and two years probation for driving while license revoked, second offense, Oct. 17 in Benton Harbor.

Car Flips, Five Hurt In Berrien

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Five women, four from Benton Harbor and one from Eau Claire, were injured early this morning when the car they were riding in struck a utility pole and landed on its top south of here.

Listed in fair condition this morning at Pawating hospital, was a woman identified by state police from the Niles post as the driver of the car, Marisela Ozuna, 21, 1973 Briarwood, Benton Harbor.

A spokesman at the hospital said four passengers in the car, Miss Ozuna's sister, Sylvia, 17, of the same Briarwood address; Dorothy McAfee, 20, route 1, Old Pipestone road, Eau Claire; Alzenia Crumble, 25, 1152 Jennings, Benton Harbor, and Kay Crumble, 20, 1187 Briarwood, Benton Harbor, were all treated and later released.

Troopers said Marisela Ozuna told officers she was headed north on US-31-33 about 2:25 a.m. when the car she was driving left the west edge of the road, while negotiating a curve, about a mile south of Berrien Springs.

Police said the driver pulled back onto the highway, lost control and the car skidded across the road to the east side. The car struck a utility pole, several trees and landed on its top, troopers said.

The driver was cited by police for careless driving, troopers said.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Man Claims He Was Beaten In Restroom

A Benton township man was hospitalized Tuesday after he told St. Joseph police another man had beaten him in the restroom at the Pump House Lounge, 214 State street.

Rodney Butts, 37, of 1188 Ravena drive, was listed in "good" condition today at Memorial hospital with a broken leg. Police said the incident occurred about 2 a.m. and apparently followed an argument. No arrest was made pending signing of a complaint.

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested a Benton township man early today on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Booked at the Berrien county jail was Leon Johnson, 27, of 1775 Council drive.

Troopers said his car was stopped about 1:30 a.m. on Empire avenue east of M-139, Benton township. A .25 caliber automatic pistol was confiscated.

A Benton Harbor man was arrested by Berrien sheriff's deputies Tuesday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Booked at the Berrien county jail was Calvin Thomas Yates, 21, of 884 Highland avenue. Deputies said a .45 caliber revolver was confiscated after a report of a man with a gun was received. The arrest was made about 1 p.m. in the 1200 block of Empire avenue, Benton township.

A 15-year-old Benton Harbor boy was taken into custody Tuesday by Benton township police on charges of attempted strong armed robbery and strong armed robbery.

An eight-year-old Benton township girl said a boy had demanded money from her Tuesday about 4:45 p.m. as she was riding her bicycle at the corner of Lynch and Jennings avenues. She said he left when she told him she had no money. She was not hurt.

Two thefts were investigated by Benton Harbor police Tuesday. A stereo combination was reported stolen from the home of Joe Massey, 292 Brunson avenue. It was valued at $175.

Mike Turner, rural Benton Harbor, told police a tape player, valued at $130, was taken from his car parked in a parking lot at Mercy hospital, 990 Agard avenue.

Four-Name Street

WYOMING, Mich. (AP) — Wyoming's street of many names will keep them all. City Council voted 5-2 to go on calling the 2½-mile-long street Cleveland Avenue, Defflow Avenue, Michael Avenue or Milan Avenue, depending on where you are along its length.

Coloma Jaycees To Sponsor Halloween Party On Oct. 31

COLOMA — Coloma Jaycees will sponsor a Halloween party for children Friday, Oct. 31, at Washington school, according to Phil Zehner, party chairman. Zehner said the party will be from 6:30 to 9 p.m. and feature games, refreshments and prizes for the best and most original costumes. Children of Coloma area are invited.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Mixed At Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today in a neutral initial reaction to the news that consumer prices rose at a 6 per cent annual rate last month.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down a fraction, but gains held a slight over-all lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

The consumer price data, issued by the government as the market opened, showed an increase from the 2.4 per cent annual rate recorded for August, but were still below the twilight levels of last year.

Today's early prices included Citicorp, unchanged at 30 1/4; Ford Motor, up 1/4 at 40 1/4; and International Nickel, off 1/4 at 23 1/4.

Teledyne, which reported sharply higher quarterly earnings, rose 1/2 to 22 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average gained 4.57 to 846.82.

Advances outpaced declines by more than a 2-1 margin on the NYSE in turnover of 20.80 million shares — the largest total in more than a month.

The Big Board's composite index rose .39 to 47.91.

McClouth Steel's Net Off

DETROIT (AP) — Net earnings for McClouth Steel Corp. in the first nine months of 1975 fell sharply when compared to figures for the same period in 1974, the firm said Tuesday.

McClouth said it earned $5.45 million or $1.02 per share, compared with $16.47 million or $2.78 per share in the first nine months of 1974.

Sales for the periods were $271 million this year and $362.3 million last year.

Three-month figures showed profits of $2.26 million or 42 cents per share in the latest period, compared with $4.72 million or 80 cents in 1974, McClouth said.

Sales for the third quarter were $97.1 million this year and $131.6 in 1974.

Chairman Gene E. Gann said the firm sees no increases this year but predicted "a return to more favorable marketing conditions" in 1976 for the entire steel industry.

Edison's Per-Share Net Up 7¢

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Edison reported net earnings for the 12 months ending Sept. 30 of $1.67 per share, compared to $1.60 per share for the same period a year ago.

Earnings totaled $79 million for the 12-month period ending Sept. 30, compared to $69.7 million for the same 12 months last year.

Detroit Edison officials on Tuesday attributed the improvement to rate increases granted by the state Public Service Commission and cost control measures instituted by the utility.

South Haven Hospital

SOUTH HAVEN — Patients admitted to South Haven Community hospital yesterday included Mrs. Marshall Brewer, Mrs. Thomas Clark, Mrs. Florence Davis, Mrs. Alvina Niffenegger, Ernest Rogalla, South Haven; Miss Jerina Johnson, Breedsville.

OFFICIAL VISITS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign minister of San Marino, one of the world's smallest countries, has conferred here with two U.S. officials.

Gian Luigi Bertini met on Tuesday with Arthur Hartman, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Robert Impeglia, acting secretary of state.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

The Pros And Cons Of Stock Options

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. I am 36, single, with about $5,000 for speculation or for getting a better income from my money. What about stock options? When should I ask about them?

A. Stock options may be used as speculations, as portfolio insurance, or as a conservative effort to increase income from long-term stock holdings. The choice is up to you.

If you want to plunk down $250 (as this is written) for the privilege of claiming 100 shares of A.T.&T. at $45 a share any time up to the end of next January there is no reason you can't make the bet.

If A.T.&T. goes to $50, you will have an option then worth $500 — a profit of 100 per cent. If A.T.&T. goes to 47 1/2 you will come out even. If it doesn't get above 45, you tear up your ticket and walk away. (I am omitting all commission and tax considerations.)

You can also buy 100 shares of Telephone at today's price, sell an option against it and collect (we'll say) $250 premium as well as the dividends paid by the stock until the end of next January (unless the shares are called away sooner by the option buyer). If he doesn't claim the stock by next January, you still hold the A.T.&T., you keep the option money and the dividends and are free to sell another option.

Now you must decide whether you really want to speculate via options or use them to try to get "a better income" from your stock. You can do either, using the Chicago Board Options Exchange or the American Stock Exchange, or put and call broker. You can get an option booklet by writing to the Chicago Board Options Exchange, La Salle at Jackson, Chicago, Illinois.

Q. We are elderly, retired with large holdings of Emerson Electric and various utilities stocks in which we have a loss. We recently took a big capital gain in Digital Equipment and would now like to sell the Emerson in order to reinvest for higher income. But the Emerson — thanks to splits — now stands at only $4 a share.

A. Your reasoning is correct. Now you must try to implement your program without running into big capital gains taxes.

First, do some arithmetic. Calculate your losses on all the utility stocks. If these offset the gains taken on Digital and the gains to be taken on Emerson, you're in business.

If the losses would total more than the gains — actual and yet to be taken — you don't have to sell all the utility stocks. If the losses are less than total profits — taken and potential — carry some of the Emerson over to next year.

Proceeds could either go back into the same utility stocks (after a 31-day delay) or immediately into utility and other high-yield corporate bonds.

First Half Good News For Gerber

FREMONT, Mich. — Gerber Products Co. sales and earnings for the first six months of the fiscal year increased significantly over comparable figures of a year ago. John C. Suerth, chairman and chief executive officer of the baby needs producer announced mid-year results this week.

Consolidated sales for the period ended Sept. 30, 1975 were $186,026,331 as compared to sales of $161,073,110 a year ago, an increase of 15.5 percent.

Net earnings for the first half of the fiscal year reached $11,034,244, an increase of 50.8 percent over earnings of $7,317,189 for the same period a year ago. On a per-share basis, earnings were $1.36 in the current period compared to 89 cents last year. There are an average of 8,132,835 shares outstanding.

For the second quarter of the current fiscal year, sales were $94,812,605 and net earnings reached $6,028,450 or 75 cents per share. In the comparable period last year, sales were $86,519,685 and net earnings were $3,872,051 or 47 cents per share.

Taxes on income for the six months ended Sept. 30, 1975 were $11,231,000 compared to taxes of $7,467,000 in the same period a year ago.

"We are certainly gratified at these results and the return to more normal growth patterns which they represent," Suerth said. "However, results from this one quarter and from the first six months should not be used to project year-end sales and earnings figures."

Consumers Power Co. Earnings Up

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. reported earnings for the 12 months ending Sept. 30 of $2.25 per share, compared to $1.40 per share for the same period the previous year.

The Jackson-based utility, which provides both natural gas and electric service, reported net income of $88.5 million for the 12-month period, compared to $60.9 million for the same period in the previous year.

The $1.40 per share figure was computed before the cumulative effect of an accounting change, which added 95 cents per share to 1974 earnings.

TUNA INDUSTRY PROBE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission said today it is launching a major antitrust investigation into the U.S. tuna industry.

The Pony Express Still A Tough Life

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — The trail has been rough for Robert Hamilton, self-styled bicentennial Pony Express rider for the state of Washington.

It began with a boast in a saloon. Since starting his trek Aug. 1.

—The bewildered, unemployed logger has left two towns owing a total of $290.12 in unpaid hotel bills.

—In Walla Walla, Wash., his horse was repossessed, and he had to travel from there to Missoula, Mont., aboard a truck.

—On Sept. 5 he walked into the lieutenant governor's office in Helena, Mont., to say hello with his nine-shot, pearl-handled revolver and loaded cartridge belt.

—He set residents clucking about his drinking in Miles City, Mont., and wondering whether he could really ride a horse.

—He was arrested in Terry, Mont., for investigation of misdemeanor theft, then released after he paid $250.

"I have to do it," Hamilton told a newsman recently. "Well, I don't have to, but I'm in so deep now that I have to go on."

It started in the Why Not Tavern in Olympia.

"We were all sitting around shooting the breeze, and we started talking about a Pony Express ride," recalled bartender Ron Schufeldt.

"Hamilton stands up and says he's going to do it. He was pretty well snuckered, and I guess he felt he couldn't back down. One day he just got up and took off."

Terry Sheriff Gary Larsen said Tuesday that rain and a sore-footed horse probably would preclude Hamilton, 32, from setting off for his next stop of Glendive, near the Montana-North Dakota border.

Larsen said Hamilton had been "entertaining himself at night, and he goes to the schools and talks during the days. He's a big thing with the kids."

Hamilton wants to get to Washington by next July 4 and give President Ford a bicentennial plaque of wood and recycled beer cans.

He carries letters from Washington Gov. Dan Evans and Olympia Mayor Tim Allen — they say they regret the letters now — and he supports himself through contributions and selling souvenir envelopes of his ride for $1 each.

Norwin Burbridge, executive director of the Washington State Bicentennial Commission, said it had not endorsed Hamilton.

"We felt the project was ill-conceived from the start and, frankly, we had serious questions about how he was going to spend the money he would be raising," said Burbridge. "He was not the type of character we wanted to support."

No Wonder He Selected 'Pele' For Pro Name

Q: Was Pele, the soccer star, born with that name? It can't be real. — H.M., Brooklyn, N.Y.
A: Right you are. But how could you get this on a shirt or marquee: Edson Arantes do Nascimento. So Pele became his professional name.

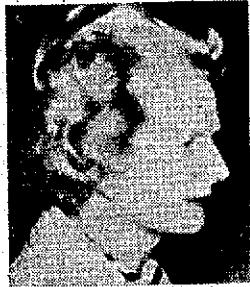

PELE
A long name

Q: I saw a picture of England's Conservative party leader, Mrs. Margaret Thatcher, on her U.S. tour. She looked downright sexy. Is that why she's so popular? — P.W., Selma, Ohio.

A: Actually, the British are accustomed to the image of Mrs. Thatcher in nothing but sensible suits. The wardrobe she chose for her American trip had her countrymen agog. Commentators remarked on her "see-through" black chiffon and some claimed she even looked "bra-less." Spokesmen for Mrs. Thatcher said it was just a three-year-old dress but the consensus was that the canny Tory leader had purposely sexed-up her style for the U.S. market.

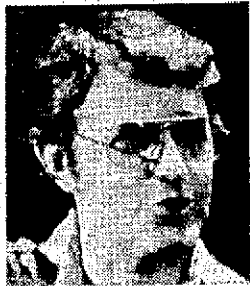

Q: What information can you give us on the death of Larry Byden? He was one of our favorite actors and yet no reports about it on TV or in the newspapers here. — F.H., Troy, Idaho.

MARGARET THATCHER
Looking sexy

PEOPLE

LARRY BYDEN
On a weekend

A: Byden's death in a car accident while vacationing in Morocco was widely covered in the New York papers, but because it happened on a weekend and in a foreign country the story may have not been picked up everywhere. Byden is one of the most loved and widely missed men in show business. He was a wonderful father, friend and human being who enthusiastically supported both the people and causes he believed in.

Q: I understand that someone is going to do a feature film on "Superman." Who is going to play Clark Kent? — Y.U., Macao, Ga.

A: Rumor has it that Robert Redford is being tempted to don those famous leotards by an offer of $2 million-plus. Come to think of it, the "real" Superman seemed to get along fine on a newspaperman's salary, didn't he?

Q: Will CBS let "Beacon Hill" continue even though it may not be strong in the ratings? I love this show. — V.N., Roxbury, Conn.

A: The feeling is that CBS WILL RENEW THE OPULENT SERIES ABOUT A Boston Irish family in the Twenties because the network will be ashamed not to give it more of a fair chance to succeed. The producers and actors have done wonders in this effort. It is too bad that the writer who created the series didn't stick with it to carry through.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why did Paul Newman, Gene Hackman, Charles Bronson and Clint Eastwood all turn down the leading role in the Western, "The Shootist"? This, one of the hottest roles in current cinema circles, was anathema to those tough leading men because the central character dies in the end of cancer of the prostate.

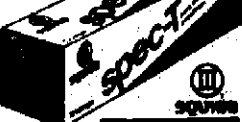

Robin Adams Sloan welcomes questions from readers. While Sloan cannot provide individual answers, questions of general interest will be used in the column. Write to Robin Adams Sloan, care of this newspaper.
